Committee Goes Into Alleged Lottery Scandals In Texas

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The atmosphere at the Chicago republican convention in 1920 was surcharged with stories of "oil deals", the committee was told today by Tiflin Gilmore, deputy secretary of state of Ohio, who was at Chicago as a Wood supporter.

One story, was, Gilmore said, that oil operators had proposed to throw delegate support to Maj. Gen. Wood if they were permitted to name the secretary of the interior. He declared he knew nothing about it "first hand," "but that it was common talk that a "deal had been consummated between oil operators and the possible nominee."

"Who were the operators?" he was asked.

"I do not know except that they were big operators in the western district."

"Who made the proposition?"

"I do not know. I could not say. The proposition was made to Gen. Wood."

James G. Darden, one of the mystery men of the oil and Daugherty inquiries is waiting to testify.

The next witness was James G. Darden, a man of many adventures whose name has been interwoven with disclosures in both the Daugherty and Teapot Dome inquiries. Process servers had reported failure to locate him for a month but he denied that he had tried to avoid service.

Probe Daugherty Lottery Case
(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The Daugherty investigating committee diverted from film deals and whisky deals when it resumed taking testimony this morning and continued hearing Mace Stewart Galveston, Tex., lawyer, who alleges the department of justice was remiss in failing to prosecute and suppress lotteries.

By cross examination Atty. Gen. Daugherty's counsel led Stewart to testify that the department of justice had prosecuted many persons for mail frauds and conspiracy, including the Standard Home Builders' Co. of Birmingham, Ala., a concern of the type Stewart contended was a lottery. Stewart admitted that some had been indicted where he thought they could not be convicted.

Examination of more important witnesses today was postponed because of the illness of Sen. Wheeler, the "prosecutor" of the committee. He was kept at home with a severe cold.

Hold Meditation Hour at Luther Memorial Today

Miss Irene Eastman, teacher of organ at the university, will direct the second musical program for the hour of meditation which will be held every Wednesday in Luther Memorial cathedral from 5 to 5:45 o'clock. Miss Signe Holst will sing several solos and Miss Lillian Soldan will also play selections on the organ. The university Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. are responsibe for the innovation of having these services. Mrs. M. B. Rosenberry is chairman of the committee providing the musical program. Other members of the committee are Prof. E. B. Gordon, Roberta Odell, Isadore Clifford, Carl Casper and Hillier Kriegbaum.

Escaped "Rum" Man Finally Surrenders

MADERA — Frank Gilbert, 19, serving a sentence of one hundred and twenty-five days in Madera county jail for selling liquor, escaped into the mountains yesterday. Today, after thinking it over, he hailed a passing motorist, rode back into Madera and surrendered to the sheriff.

Claims Cobban Offered Auto List to Mowry For $500; Other Charges

An extended list of specific charges against Alex J. Cobban, dismissed state automobile clerk, was made public today by Secretary of State Zimmerman and Deputy Attorney General R. M. Rieser.

Under the charge of insubordination, Mr. Zimmerman claims that Cobban furnished a list of automobiles licensed in Wisconsin to the R. H. Donelly Co., Nevada, Iowa, the Northern Motor Bearing Service, Rhinelander, and the Capper Publications, Topeka, Kan. He also alleges that Mr. Cobban offered to furnish a list to Don Mowry of the Madison Association of Commerce for $500.

Under inefficiency, Mr. Zimmerman set forth twelve instances in which he claimed license fees had been reduced or misstatements of fact regarding licenses made. Reissuing of licenses also was alleged, as was refunding of money, contrary to state laws.

The letter was filed with the civil service commission.

The letter follows:

"As to the first reason assigned (insubordination):

"1. During 1923 and 1924, you furnished a list of all automobiles licensed in Wisconsin to the R. H. Donnelly Company, Nevada, Iowa, in violation of sec. 4549g and the rules of this department.

"2. You offered to furnish a similar list to Don Mowry, secretary of the Association of Commerce, for a consideration of $500.

"3. You furnished the Northern Motor Bearing and Armature Service, Rhinelander, a list of automobile dealers, in violation of statute.

"4. You furnished the Capper Publications of Topeka, Kansas, similar lists.

"As to the second ground for your removal (inefficiency):

Bullet Ends Life of Man In Sun Prairie

Charles Conrad, 50, Found Dead; Rifle Held In Hands

SUN PRAIRIE, Wis.—(Special)—Charles Conrad, 50, was found dead in his room above the Schey store here Tuesday noon, a .22-caliber bullet hole in his throat and a rifle in his hands.

Monday noon owners of the store heard the sound of something falling in the room above the store. No thought was given the matter until Tuesday when they noticed that Mr. Conrad failed to appear. Relatives who became anxious entered his room and found the body.

Four years ago Mr. Conrad was paroled from the Mendota hospital. He was not in good health, according to relatives.

He is survived by two brothers, Joseph and Henry Conrad, Sun Prairie, and six sisters, Mrs. George Dott, Mrs. John Schernecker, Mrs. John Logeman, all of Sun Prairie; Mrs. Albert Hessel, Columbus; Mrs. John Ziebarth, Madison and Mrs. William Belda, De Forest.

Funeral services will be held from the Sacred Heart church and interment will be made at Sacred Heart cemetery. The Rev. Fr. John Falentin will officiate.

Navarra Funeral Will Be Held Tomorrow

Baffled at every turn by the refusal of "Little Sicily's" residents to divulge information, police Wednesday admitted that the slaying of Anton Navarra, 38, Italian leader, in his grocery store, 746 W. Washington ave., Sunday night, would probably go down in police annals as the ninth unsolved murder in that community in the past ten years.

Thursday morning Navarra will be buried. At 8 o'clock funeral services will be held at the home. At 8:30 services will be held from the St. Joseph's church, S. Park st., the Rev. Peter Perardi officiating. Interment will be made at Holy Cross cemetery.

Caspare Cantela, a cousin of the murder victim, arrived here Wednesday to attend the last rites.

Johnson Swamped; La Follette Polls Heavy Vote

BULLETIN 3 P. M.
(By the Associated Press)

FARGO, N. D.—Returns from 596 precincts out of 2,059 give: Coolidge 24,650; LaFollette 10,217; Johnson 13,656.

(By the Associated Press)

FARGO, N. D.—President Calvin Coolidge maintained more than a two to one lead over Sen. Hiram Johnson and Senator La Follette for the Republican presidential preference endorsemnt in yesterday's state wide primary, according to incomplete and unofficial returns compiled early today.

When 243 precincts had reported early today out of 2,058 in the state, the figures were:

Coolidge 14,271.
Johnson 6,088.
La Follette 4,275.

William G. McAdoo was unopposed for the Democratic presidential preference endorsement.

The first scattered returns were mostly from cities and towns in 35 of the state's 53 counties. Most of the rural precincts remain to be heard from.

The totals of Sen. Johnson and La Follette were swelled as the rural precincts begun to report and Johnson headquarters here expressed confidence that more complete figures would swing the tide in his favor.

reports would indicate.

The vote polled by Sen. La Follette was noted with satisfaction by his backers, especially in view of the fact that his name was withheld from the ballot at the Wisconsin senator's request. Stickers were used by La Follette adherents and pasted on the ballots.

Woman Sees Crisis Near In Germany

Frau Schreiber, Ex-Reichstag Member, Speaks Here; Fears Election

Resolutions Ask U. S. Aid

Speaker Lauds Conference Stand; Mrs. Blaine Urges Help

Germany is facing elections two months away with hope in America and the Labor government of England as almost the only bulwark standing off economic and political disintregation, Frau Adele Schreiber, of Berlin, writer and administrator, said at the public meeting Tuesday night of the Emergency Foreign Policy conference, Wisconsin branch, in the capitol assembly room.

"Communism and nationalistic militarism stand at either hand of the liberals now at the helm in Germany," Frau Schreiber said. "Continued grinding of the conqueror's heel by France or a loss in the faith in America and England will force the German people to the extremes of action. The result either way will be another conflict endangering all of Europe."

Frau Adele Schreiber, will give another talk at Turner hall Thursday night at 8 o'clock. This talk will be in German. The lecture is free.

Member of Reichstag

Frau Schreiber is a former member of the Reichstag, having been one of the first women elected. She is a leader in attempts to solve the social and economic problems of her country and is recognized throughout Europe in the van of those seeking to make Europe safe for peace.

The program of the Emergency Foreign Policy conference, calling for a vigorous stand by the United States intended to fulfill America's obligation resulting from her war aims and the terms of the armistice, was approved by Frau Schreiber as including the steps by America most certain to aid in bringing peace.

Includes Borah Plan

The conference program was expanded Tuesday night by vote to include the Borah plan to outlaw war. The program now contains proposals to establish reparations within the ability of Germany to pay; a reasonable moratorium to enable her to stabilize her government and industry; sympathetic encouragement of the Republican form of government of Germany, expresses opposition to continued military occupation and to armament rivalry, and urges congressional appropriation for relief in central Europe.

On a motion by Mrs. J. J. Blaine, wife of the governor, a resolution was adopted calling upon congress to pass the measure to appropriate not more than $10,000,000 for relief of women and children.

Dr. W. H. Sheldon introduced the resolution supporting the Borah plan. Prof. W. G. Rice and Prof. E. A. Ross of the university spoke briefly on the need of international understanding as a requisite to peace.

Autocracy or Communism?

Germany's faith in democratic government has been shaken grievously since the enthusiastic days of 1918, when the people believed that they had seen the end of militarism and the dawn o peace, Frau Schreibr said.

I. M. Kittleson

"In view of the fact that there were contests in only two wards, the vote on Tuesday was large, which demonstrates a growing interest in civic affairs," said Mayor Kittleson today.

"I am well pleased with the results of the primary election."

Clyde A. Gallagher

"I am certainly very much pleased with the result of the primary election. I should like to thank my many friends for turning out in such good numbers and for voting for me," said Mr. Gallagher today.

U.-Boat Rams Warship Near Harbor; Rescue Work Begun

(By the Associated Press)

SAZBO, Japan — Hope for the rescue of any of the four officers and 40 men in submarine 43 of the Japanese navy, which sank today in 26 fathoms of water, virtually was given up this afternoon. Efforts to bring the craft to the surface are continuing.

The 800-ton vessel went down suddenly after collision with the war ship Tatsuta during maneuvers ten miles outside Sazbo harbor.

Submarine 43, constructed two years ago, is the second underwater craft of the Japanese navy lost in the past seven months, another having sunk off Kobe last August.

Denies He Saw Murderer Shoot; Saw Him Run Away

Henry Illegan, occupant of the residence, 750 W. Washington ave., which is next to the grocery store in which Anton Navarra, Italian leader was slain Sunday night, states that he did not see the shot fired through the window of the store, and that the first he saw of the assassin he was running away from the window toward the rear of the store, shotgun in hand.

Throng Crowds Stores As Style Show Opens; Living Models Named

Smiling skies and balmy spring temperatures rewarded Madison merchants and displaymen Wednesday morning for their extensive plans and work in preparing the annual Spring Opening. Tuesday's crowds, attracted by the brilliant windows and good weather jammed the streets until chosen spots near the models and garments were at a prmium. The exhibitions are to be continued Wednesday night and Thursday and the three-act style show staged by Loken Bros. and Olson & Veerhusen at the Parkway theatre will run untill Friday night.

Karsten's style show, with the five models, nearly blocked the southwest entrance to the square with throngs of boys and girls, and men and women enthusiasts interested in the various models of everyday clothes, sports clothes, evening dress and other furnishings. Several students took part in the exhibition, but to the youngsters the elaborate apparel of Betty Riley, Jerry and Judson Mead, Thorloff Reggburg, Edmund Harte was the center of attraction. These very young men and women were all dressed up for the edification and information of the prospective purchasers in front of the plate glass.

Wednesday afternoon the Harry S. Manchester, Inc., held its style show on the second floor of the

TENTH WARD
HERMAN J. STEFFEN—552
DR. C. F. RODOLF—167

A second recount of the ballots in the first precinct of the ninth ward will be asked by H. J. Lowry, a candidate for alderman, who was eliminated when a recount was held between midnight and 4 a. m. Wednesday.

After the original count was made, election clerks are reported to have found a number of ballots which had not been included. H. J. Lowry and R. P. oran had received the nomination in the first count.

When the recount was made the election officials reported that Sidney L. Gay received six more votes than Lowry and that the nomination would go to Doran and Gay.

Mr. Lowry intended to present his petition to City Cery Harry C. Buser Wednesday afternoon.

One upset after another marked the primary balloting.

Thomas Coughlin and H. B. Newton were nominated as supervisors in the ninth.

Leads Woman Candidate.

Another surprise came in the fifth ward where James Lewis claimed a plurality of 232 votes in his race for the county board against Mrs. F. C. Sharp.

Still another surprise developed in the fourth ward aldermanic contest. James Lutz, running against a veteran of the council, W. L. Dowling, polled a plurality of 74 votes.

John T. Gay, brought out in the third ward in opposition to Alderman George H. Breitenbach in the council race, received a majority of 61 ballots over the present council member.

Henry Caesar, former council representative from the fifth ward, led a three-cornered aldermanic contest in that ward. He polled 413 votes. Ald. A. R. Rhode, present encumbent, was his closest rival with 394. Robert Duncan was eliminated. He had 313 votes.

Utter Stages Comeback.

In the sixth ward M. D. Larson gave George J. Fessler an unexpected run, polling 728 to Fessler's 688 in the two precincts.

Arthur O. Utter made a sensational comeback in the seventh ward. Utter, a former council member, claimed 375 votes in the two precincts, compared with Geo. A. Trachte's 388.

In the tenth ward Ald. Herman J. Steffen found no trouble in opposition furnished by Dr. C. F. Rodolf.

Showed Great Strength

The mayoralty contest, in which little apparent interest was in evidence even during the voting on Tuesday, held the center of the stage Wednesday as a result of the unexpected strength shown by Mr. Gallagher.

Gallagher carried seven of the fifteen voting precincts for a total of 4,284 votes. He carried his own ward, the sixth with a limited plurality of 196 votes. Mayor Kittleson fared no better in his ward, the second, where he carried the primary with a majority of 106 votes.

Gallagher carried the second precinct of the third ward, the fourth ward, all of the sixth ward, the second precinct of the seventh ward, the eighth ward by a tremendous plurality, and the first precinct of the ninth ward. He swamped Kittleson in the eighth ward by a vote of 498 to 174.

Tenth for Kittleson

Mayor Kittleson's stronghold was in the tenth ward where he polled a plurality of 330, and in the first

Club Refuses to Sanction Callahan Act

U. W. Progressives Defeat Resolution Lauding Military Scheme

The Young Men's Progressive association of the university Tuesday night defeated a resolution censuring the Woman's Progressive association for criticising State Supt. Callahan for asking high school principals to support the citizens' military training camps.

Folowing the discussion, William T. Evjue gave a talk on newspapers.

In his talk in favor of the resolution, August Scherr said that "A. E. Garey and a number of leading progresives in the capitol favored the adoption of the resolution supporting Callahan." Sam Levitan also spoke in favor of the resolution. Wayne Limberg and William Blake opposed adoption of the resolution. The resolution follows:

"Whereas, the Wisconsin Women's Progressive ass'n has adopted a resolution censuring State Sup't. Callahan for sending a letter to high schools of the state inviting high school boys to attend the citizen military training camps;

"And, whereas, we believe that every young man in the state of Wisconsin owes a duty to his state and to his country to be properly fitted in training and health to defend his country in time of danger;

"And whereas, we, in equal measure to that of the Women's Progressive ass'n., favor the outlawry of war but do not think such an end can be attained by keeping this country in an untrained and defenseless condition i a world of armed forces

"Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the University of Wisconsin Chapter of the Young Men's Progressive ass'n. of Wisconsin representing the progressive political thought of the young men of the university and of the state do declare our opposition to the stand taken by the Women's Progressive ass'n. and do commend the action of Sup't. Callahan as patriotic and wise."

Newest Jewelry Supplies Novelty For All Outfits

If you can't decide what that dress needs, go bead shopping. It's ten to one that you'll find just the thing to set it off to best advantage in the attractive new strings, Chinese jade, clear crystal, or shiny jet, predominate. The newest beads are melon shaped or cube cut. Graduated round beads are still being worn this spring.

One of the best looking strings was made of milk. A Frenchman patented the process and the result is a bead that looks like dull topaz. They're really lovely, and guaranteed not to break. Another stunning one was made of square cut crystal combined with black jet and little bits of green jade to give it color.

Choker beads are superceded by the very long strings that hang almost down to the knees.

Ear rings are to be worn, too. With evening dresses the idea seems to be the longer the better. Hoops that suggest gypsies, in gold and jet, are very good.

Bracelets are wider than ever and made to wear above the elbow. Black ones are particularly popular and bracelets studded with four rows of brilliants are in vogue.

If you have any wide gold ones tucked away with the heirlooms at home, bring it out and wear it, for they are the newest thing. Wide silver ones are in some of the shops and are tailored enough to be worn with the most severe styles without seeming incongruous.

Mourn Navarra Death

Neighborhood House Workers and Friends Prepare Memorial Resolution; Advocated U. S. Citizenship Among Foreigners

Friends and employes at the Neighborhood House, 768 W. Washington ave., are mourning the death of Anton Navarra, who was shot and killed by an unknown assassin last Sunday night. A memorial resolution has been drawn up, signed by the following: Mary D. Saxton, Prof. E. B. Gordon, Mary Lee Griggs, F. M. Wilcox, Mrs. J. B. Ramsay, Gay W. Braxton, the Rev. George E. Hunt, Mrs. William Kittle and E. J. Frautschi. It follows:

"We the undersigned desire to express publicly our appreciation of the fine qualities of our late friend and fellow citizen, Anton Nevarro. During the three years or more that Neighborhood House has been seeking to establish a better understanding and more friendly relations with our foreign born citizens, Mr. Navarro has been our counsellor and helper. His interest was great in helping his fellow countrymen to become good American citizens and his appeal made recently to the Rotary club for its held in saving the Italian boys of the city was a touching manifestation of his desire to see his community live up to the highest ideals.

"He gave further evidence of his fine qualities as a citizen during the recent campaign for the Community Union. The appeal which he and his committee made resulted in a hundred per cent response on the part of the Italian community."

store. Thompson's orchestras furnished music. Ten models displayed apparel suited to women of various ages. Helen Ashard, Kathleen Hyland and Marie Doris appeared with frocks, coats and hats for girls of the ages from 5 to 15 years. Jeanette Studeman wore sport togs including a riding habit and golf costume with correct accessories. Christine Kather displayed a young woman's frocks and wraps while Elsie Gentz wore striking new wraps and coats. Mrs. Sidney M. Schoyen wore young women's frocks and hats and Helen Matts appeared with modelling apparel for young women. Mrs. Ada Rhodes displayed frocks and wraps for mature women. Special pattern hats from New York were worn by the models who were furnished with boots and shoes from the Jensen Boot shop.

At the Loken Bros. and Olson and Veerhusen show at the Parkway theater, starting Wednesday night, the following models will appear for Olson and Veerhusen: Gordon Hecker, A. G. Du Val, Carl Adsit, Le Roy J. Rieselback, Jack Hilgers, Harold Bennett, Dean Gannon, Harold Hausman, W. A. Thiel, Raymond Fett and Robert Cass. In the Loken Bros. display, Agatha Murphy, Irene Kracht, Alma Tollett, Mrs. James Diebold, Julia Scheidler, Alma Redell, Mary Davenport, Irene Eisele, Anita Babler and Mrs. D. J. Corscott will appear. Ruth Loken and Norman Coughlin will display the children's apparel.

The scenes in this revue will represent the 18th hole at the Sunnyside golf course where the championship of a mixed foursome is being settled. The players will please the hearts of the many golfing fans of the city with their latest togs for the greens and bunkers. H. L. Webster will demonstrate the truth of the old saying that "clothes make the woman" and a picnic scene on the banks of Lake Mendota with those present attired in outing, hiking and sport apparel. A dancing number and a magnificent wedding scene "Here Comes the Bride" will complete the offering. Special scenery has been prepared by the two stores for all three acts under the direction of a scenic artist.

Attractive Window Displays

Most of the other stores have spent their best efforts in attractive window displays. Art Knisely of Burdick and Murray's has completed a background and decorative scheme on a specially constructed background with tan as the color motive.

None of the stores are open for business during the opening but are prepared to show all the full lines of the season's latest styles. Other stores carrying lines besides clothing are also cooperating with displays of their stocks.

New Remedy Found for Sleeping Sickness

BERLIN—A new remedy for sleeping sickness has been discovered by Prof. Kleine of Berlin. Kleine, who conducted a campaign against the disease in German East Africa before the war, has returned to Berlin after a two years' expedition through the South African union, Rhodesia and the Congo, where he tested the new remedy.

In a speech delivered before the Berlin Medical society, Prof. Kleine said even the most critical stage of the disease was cured in numerous cases. Relapses occurred only in a few cases. Researches will be made to see whether the remedy may be applied to cattle.

Speeding Grandma, 88, Nabbed for Doing 62

MIAMI, Fla.—She's just a dear, innocent woman, is Grandma (Mrs. John J.) Hollenbeck, 82 years youthful. She craved just a little, tiny bit of excitement, Grandma did.

She had a little motor car, jumped in, and hit the dust at sixty-two miles an hour. She was pinched on the Dixie highway.

"Land's Sakes!" chied Grandma. "I never dreamed I was going so fast."

Evjue Before K. C. Deplores 'Money' Press

Madison Editor Says Paper Owes Duty to Fight for Right

The commercializing of newspapers was deplored by William T. Evjue, editor of the Capital Times, in an address given Wednesday noon at the weekly luncheon of the Knights of Columbus in the clubhouse, E. Wilson st.

Mr. Evjue declared that the papers, in the last 25 years, have gone through a tremendous revolution and have "left Main st."

Cites Two Classes

"Newspaper may bedivided into two classes," he stated. "Tohse that sell their news as merchandise exactly as merchants sell their goods; that spend large sums of money to collect news to give to the people, feeling that news is what the people want.

"The other type ist he newspaper that feel it has a further duty to the public than the mere gathering of news, that feels it should work for the good of the community.

"You all have heard of some of the great editors of the past, Greely, Dana, Raymond, Waterson, and others. How many of you today know who writes theeditorials for the New York Times, the Chicago Tribune or the Louisville Courier? The personal touch in newspapers has disappeared.

Personal Touch Gone

"Pick up any newspaper from any city away from your home and you will find that newspapers are very much alike. You will find that some have the "Jiggs" cartoon and some have 'jerry on the Job;" some have the "Brisbane" and some the "Crane" editorials. The papers have become 'factoryized,' depending upon syndicates for their features."

Mr. Evjue also dwelt upon the fact that large advertisers attempt to coerce papers, to dictate the news that should be printed and the news that should be omitted because it might injure their personal profits.

Mr. Evjue said:

Dana Wouldn't Hesitate

"Stories of graft and corruption are coming out of Washington daily. Back in 1922 when the first intimations of oil scandal were made, little was said.

"It was not until the revelations became sostartling that the matter no longer could be hushed up that the papers began to take action. How long do you suppose Greeley or Dana would have hesitated in grasping the editorial pen and going after those implicated?"

Lenher Tells Chemists of New Solvent

U. W. Professor at National Meeting Explains Discovery

CINCINNATI, O.—(Special) — The work of the University of Wisconsin chemical laboratories held the stage here Wednesday when Prof. Victor Lenher of the university chemistry department explained the new solvent, selenium-oxychloride, before the branch of the American Society of Chemists at the University of Cincinnati.

Great interest in the discovery revealed by the Wisconsin professor was displayed both by scientists and manufacturers as the result of forecasts that the solvent will revolutionize processes in several industries.

Prof. Lenher said that the properties and uses so far listed and attributed to selenium oxy-chloride indicate that the greatest importance may be given to it by reason of its basic properties. Investigations will continue in the Wisconsin laboratories and in other research centers.

Rose Leading Hoan By 400 In Milwaukee

Elmergreen Is Swamped; Say Nonpartisans Have Election Chance

(By the Associated Press)

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — David S. Rose, mayor of Milwaukee a decade ago, easily defeated Dr. Ralph Elmergreen for head of the nonpartisan city ticket and Mayor Hoan was nominated to lead the Socialists without opposition in yesterday's mayoralty primary. Under the nonpartisan election laws the two highest candidates are put on the ticket at the city election Apr. 1.

Complete returns give Rose 40,910; Hoan 40,483; Elmergreen 11,091.

Other successful candidates for the nonpartisan ticket were Louis M. Kotecki, city controller, John I. Drew, city treasurer; and John M. Nicen, city attorney.

Kotecki was an overwhelming winner over Louis Widule.

Returns from 68 precincts give Kotecki 11,038 votes against 4,426 for Widule. Edmund T. Melms, Socialist nominee for controller, trailed Kotecki.

Tipped off by their party leaders to pile up votes for Hoan so that he would show above the total for Rose and Elmergreen was taken as a party duty by Socialists. Returns from Socialist precincts bears out this line of argument and indicates that the nonpartisans now have a fine chance to win the April 1, election.

On the basis of returns up to an early hour today it appears the total primary vote will be about 80,000.

Snow early yesterday had the effect of keeping many people away from the polls, but the balloting was brisk during the afternoon.

Elmergreen failed to carry a single precinct.

Bags Will Lend Personality to Season Outfits

The whim of every woman is catered to in the many different kinds of handbags ranging from most artistic and perishable ones for theatre matinees, to very practical ones for street wear.

The beaded bags are very attractive, embroidered in flower and other designs, in many beautiful colors. The newer beaded bags shown are not the draw string kind, but those havin gthe handle and the bag proper all in one.

In several shops the hand tooled leather hand bags were displayed. They were tooled in many artistic designs, on one or both sides of the purses. These bags contained special compartments for a coin purse, comb and mirror.

Shirred leather pouch bags are very popular as they are large without being cumbersome. In contrast to these bags are the small coin purses and bill cases.

WEYERHEUSER—"A Poor Married Man," a three act comedy drama, was presented by pupils of the Kalish school here, under the direction of Miss Idel De Pew.

Spring Prices For Men to Remain About the Same

Prices, as a general rule, are running the same this year. One merchant stated that clothing is approximately 5 to 10 per cent higher this season, due to the increased wages paid the tailors.

The Republican tariff, which boosts the price of imported cloth, has a tendency to raise the selling price of the finished article, but the tariff has an almost neglible effect on the ultimate price in comparison with the cost of tailoring each garment.

Suits range in price from $50 upwards. The standard brands of nationally advertised clothing sells at approximately $40 and $45, and one line which caters to college men starts at $55. Less expensive garments may be purchased at $25, but the average price for this type of article is around $35.

In the topcoat fields the price starts at $30 and goes up, with the average ranging around the $35 to $40 mark. Shoes start at $9 and go as high as $14 and $15, with cheaper brands at $6 upwards. The standard price seems to be $10, $12 and $14.

Approximately $2.50 to $5 pays for a good shirt. Neckwear runs about the same, with the variation coming in the knitted English ties which retail at $5. The bow tie is cheaper, and as stated in the chart for the well dressed college man, several bows should be included in the wardrobe for they are less expensive and a couple of them may be purchased for the price of a good four in hand.

A "nobby" hat comes at $7, and goes up, with some makes at $5. And after all, the price one pays is determined by the pocket book, but th better grade of goods is worth the money as the material is of a better quality, and the fit and style is there to stay, so in the long run the student is far better off having paid the extra dollars, which are soon forgotten..

I take this opportunity to extend to the voters of the Fifth Ward my sincere thanks for the support given me in the recent primaries and I earnestly solicit your vote on April 1.

Yours for Representative Government

Cobban Charges Detailed

of $18 for license fee, you charged the weight to 3190 pounds and allowed a $16 rate.

"2. You furnished a license to W. J. Riedner of Columbus, on a Buick car on a basis of 2520 pounds weight, rate $14, when the proper weight was 2950 pounds and the rate should have been $16.

"3. You furnished a license to John Eldred, Milwaukee, on a Buick car on the basis of 2575 pounds for a license fee of $14, when the proper weight was 3770 pounds and the proper license fee $20.

"4. You furnished a license to George Kull, on a Nash car on the basis of a weight under 2800 pounds with a license fee of $14, when the proper weight was 3330 pounds and the proper license fee was $18. In this instance, Mr. Kull reported his weight as 3440 pounds at $18.00 and you changed it to less than 2800 pounds at $14.

"5. In negotiations between this department and the Carnation Milk Products Company directed by you, you failed to properly advise the Carnation Milk Products Company as to the proper fee to be paid by them.

"6. You directed the printing of copy sheets for ditto machines having on the back thereof certificate as to sale of the automobile affected by the particular license, when such copy was for record in this office only and the certificate as to sale of such machine never could be used for any purpose whatsoever. This resulted in the expenditure of a large amount of money for printing.

"7. You gave permission for the use of a license plate issued for a Ford runabout truck on an Auburn touring car and at the same time encouraged the return of such license plate for exchange by advising H. J. Reimer, the owner of said cars, that exchange would be made and credit given for return of the license plates.

8. Prior to Feb. 25, 1924, you issued a license to Joseph Schmitz, Madison, on a Chevrolet F. B. touring car for $11.00, and on Feb. 25 on being advised of the error you had made, suggested payment of an additional $3 and advised the owner of the car that he might retain a license plate on the car applicable to a car subject to an $11 license fee only.

"8. About the first day of Feb. 1924, you issued to L. F. Hadner, 1338 Morrison Street, Madison, license number C-13524 on a Buick five-passenger 1923 model touring car for a license fee of $14., when the weight of such car was such as to require a license fee of $16.

"9. On or about Nov. 12, 1923, you issued a license on a Ford bus to W. A. Rasmussen, Route No. 2, Brooklyn, Wis., and accepted as a fee 7.50 when the proper fee was $22.50.

"10. On Nov. 12, 1923, you advised Fred Bund, Brooklyn, Wis., to run his bus on a truck license.

"11. On Nov. 12, 1923, you advised Archie Yarwood, Brooklyn, Wis., to run his bus on a truck number.

"12. On Jan. 9, 1924, you issued license number A-9565 to H. B. Whittemore, Milwaukee. On Feb. 11, 1924, you transferred this license to R. Miller, Milwaukee, and on Feb. 14 this license was re-issued to Harry Marshall, Cazenovia.

"With reference to the third Specification, you are advised that because of the lack of records and your failure to keep the cards and records affecting the $14,000 of fees referred to in such specification, this department is now without means of specifying or pointing out specifically the matters referred to by you, and that said charge is as certain and specific as it can now be made in view of the unsatisfactory condition of the records. You are further advised that in addition to the $14,000 of fees referred to in said specification, there was in the neighborhood of $3,000 of fees for which cards were scattered in various parts of the office, without any proper arrangement, system of record, but that such cards were found and credit given to the proper counties, and that because of your failure to keep proper records and keep the cards properly filed away, the remaining cards affecting the said $14,000 became lost, misplaced and their whereabouts are now unknown, and for said reason I am unable to further inform you as to the questions raised by your request for further specifications.

"With reference to the fourth specification:

"1. On Feb. 8, 1924, you directed Emil D. Hardin to return license plates delivered to him, and advised him he would have the license fee refunded, and on Feb. 20, 1924 you mailed to said Emil D. Hardin a check for $11, being the refund covering the licenses in question.

"2. On Jan. 29, 1924, you received from Angelo Hoffman of Milwaukee, license plates numbered D-5539, and issued a check for refund of $2., in accordance with request of said Hoffman.

"3. On Feb. 11, 1924, you accepted return of license plate No. D-1955 from E. W. Holz, Iron Mountain, Mich., and made a refund of $16 covering such licenses.

"4. About February 15, 1924 you accepted license plates numbered A-13987 and issued in place thereof license plates numbered B-27427 to A. Hass, West Allis.

"5. About Feb. 2, 1924, you accepted return of license plates numbered C-9708 covering a Chevrolet sedan, and on said date issued departmental check for $13. to the Hibenstreit & Bartlett Company of Milwaukee, covering refund to purchaser of license. It appears from the letter of Jan. 26 that at the time application was made for this license, the Hebenstreit & Bartlett Company were owners of the Chevrolet sedan in question and sold the car prior to receipt of the license.

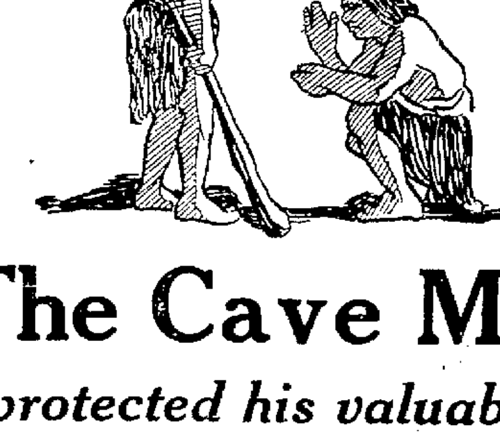

"6. On Feb. 15, 1924, you agreed by letter to accept from Henry J. Huetpas, Little Chute, license plates issued pursuant to his application of Jan. 3, 1924.

"7. On Feb. 16, 1924, you accepted return of automobile license plates D-11962 on a Dodge sedan and issued departmental check for $16 as refund to Edwin Henes, Milwaukee. Application for this license was made on January 21.

"8. On Feb. 19, 1924, you advised Fred Hendrickson, Milwaukee, that you would accept return of license plates, application for which was made on or about December 27, 1923.

"9. About Jan. 22, 1924, you accepted return of plates numbered A-8065 from the H. H. Heinz Company and issued license plates B-14233. It appears that license plates A-8065 were issued by the department as the result of a misstatement made by the Heinz Company.

"You will note that all of the persons mentioned are found under the initial H of licenses issued for 1924. A check through the various letters of the alphabet shows similar action on your part throughout the period since the first of February, 1924. All of this action on your part was in violation of my specific instructions, and moreover all refunds made by you were in violation of sec. 20.06.

Rail Problem Paramount, Is M'Adoo Plea

Scores Graft, Inefficiency at Washington In Milwaukee Talk

(By the Associated Press)

MILWAUKEE — Until the railroad problem is settled right we have assurance neither of stable prosperity nor economic justice, William G. McAdoo declared in an address here today before the City Club.

"With foreign markets reopened to our farm products, with a just and equitable tariff bill enacted, and with railroad reform effected so that ample and cheap transportation shall be provided throughout the land," said Mr. McAdoo, "a sound basis for restoring agricultural prosperity and the prosperity of all classes including legitimate business, will be provided."

The candidate for the Democratic nomination declared that "the administration's theory of relief to the farmers through reduced freight rates is to wait seven years for the railroads to decide whether or not they are willing to consolidate in order to produce reduced freight rates. This is farcical. What is demanded is action now to meet an emergency in which agriculture is suffering and in which the people of the entire nation are suffering from wrongs inflicted by unsound and unwise railroad legislation. There is no effective government at Washington today. Demoralization, graft and inefficiency abound. The Republican party has no cohesion in the house or in the senate. The president is unable to secure a majority in either house. Such a condition is a serious matter, not alone for business but for the morale of the people."

Mr. McAdoo attacked the Esch-Cummins law, declaring that "under it freight and passenger rates have been higher and more burdensome than ever before in the history of the nation. Under it the strong railroads have a direct incentive to extravagant practices; under it occurred one of the worst railroad strikes in history.

After the address, Mr. McAdoo left for Sioux Falls, S. Dak.

Among guests who attended the city club luncheons in honor of Mr. McAdoo were Mrs. Ben Hooper, of Oshkosh, Democratic national committee woman; Mrs. Etta Bauer, and Mrs. Mary Kryszak, Milwaukee candidates for district delegates to the Democratic national convention; Judge David L. Rockwell, Chicago, western campaign manager; William O'Connell, Illinois campaign manager; Brice Claggett, secretary to the candidate; James Stover, Frank T. Boesel, Mrs. LeRoy Willoughby, Mrs. C. M. Barr, Mrs. J. W. Gross and H. A. Moehlenpah, Milwaukee; Mrs. O. V. Fragstein, and Mrs. F. Coggeshall, Wauwatosa.

DURHAM, N. H.—If the climate is too cold for corn, try sunflowers. The agricultural experts at the University of New Hampshire have received reports from Agent D. A. O'Brien of Coos county, indicating that the substitution works well.

The growing season in this county is too short for the successful production of ensilage corn.

Since 1920 a number of farmers have been experimenting with sunflowers, and Mr. O'Brien believes that the crop has proved worth while.

PHILADELPHIA — William Penn's statue on top of the city hall tower is to be drafted by Gen. Butler director of public safety, in his war on bandits. Four red searchlights would be mounted on Penn's broad brimmed hat facing the principal points of the compass. The searchlights will be controlled from the police headquarters. When news of a hold-up in the northern section of the city, for instance, is received the light pointing north will warn patrolmen in that quarter to be on the watch.

Know Man Who Owned Still That Exploded

Police Scour "Little Sicily" for Liquor Plant Operator

The name and description of the owner of the still which exploded on the third floor of the residence at 825 Regent st, is in the possession of police and a search of the city is now being made to locate him.

It is believed that operator of the still was in the room at the time of the explosion and was injured in the blast which blew out windows and rocked the building. If the owner cannot be found, court proceedings will be started against owners of the building.

Huge Theater to Be Opened In Milwaukee

New $2,000,000 Wisconsin Will Start On March 28; Has 3500 Seats

More than 3,000 persons will visit Milwaukee on March 28, to attend the opening of the Wisconsin theater, largest and most beautiful showhouse in the Northwest.

The opening of this theater, Saxes $2,000,000 picture palace, will be an event of state-wide importance. Famous men and women from all parts of the United States will witness the mammoth production which will be presented on opening night. Captains of industry, financiers, matinee idols, film producers, screen stars, and a galaxy of nationally known persons will be present. Among the guests will be included such names as Adolph Zukor, Lewis J. Selznick, Cecil B. DeMille, Carl Laemmle,, and a host of others.

"March 28, will mark the beginning of a new era in the theatrical history of Wisconsin—the end of a period of comparative theatrical decadence," declared Thomas Saxe, general manager. "Although Wisconsin has always had good theaters we have had none that could be spoken of in the same breath with Grauman's Metropolitan, Los Angeles; the Capitol, New York, or the Chicago of Balaban and Katz, Chicago. Our theaters have not kept pace with our progress in other fields. But with the opening of the Wisconsin theater on March 28, all this will have been changed."

This massive structure houses not only the theater proper with its 3,500 seats, but also the largest ball room in the United States in the roof garden on top, and recreation parlor containing billiard and pool tables and bowling alleys in the sub-level.

The theater will be primarily devoted to motion pictures. However a large part of each program will be given to stage presentations and musical offerings by the organists and symphony concert orchestra.

A feature of the theater is the two $50,000 organs which when played by two organists at the same time rise from three floors below into full view of the auditors, and later sink from sight. The symphony concert orchestra is the largest in the northwest.

Each of the 3,500 seats affords an uninterrupted view of the stage. A recently designed ventilating system will wash the air, heating or cooling it at the same time. The cooling system, alone, was installed at a cost of more than $65,000.

Rare oil paintings, marble pillars and rich drapes lend an atmosphere of grandeur to the lobby. Patrons may keep appointments there, with friends on the handsomely appointed mezzanine promenade.

An orchestra on the mezzanine will play softly for those resting there. The lighting system of the theatre is a triumph of electrical artistry. Light colors will be blended increasing or decreasing automatically to synchronize with the theme of the production. The 75 foot electric sign in front of the building is admitted by sign makers to be the largest theatrical sign in the United States, each letter being larger than an ordinary man. The name "Wisconsin" will flash on Grand Avenue with a blaze of light which can be seen for more than 20 miles.

The ladies' lounging rooms, luxuriously furnished, contain many innovations. Maids will direct patrons past mirrors to chiffoniers containing every known cosmetic where they may "see that their powder is on straight."

Three floors beneath the building is the "Laboratory theater" a diminutive theater, not open to the public, where directors and executives will rehearse coming attractions.

The stage is of such unusual proportions that the largest spectacles can be presented. Within 24 hours it can be converted for grand opera or any desired attraction.

LA CROSSE, Wis.—The one-room log school house in Wisconsin 40 years ago was contrasted with consolidated schools of today by C. J. Anderson, first assistant state superintendent of schools, in an address here before the Western Wisconsin Teachers' association. Mr. Anderson spoke in place of John Callahan, state superintendent.

"Log school houses with home-made seats and furniture were common in Wisconsin 35 or 40 years ago," Mr. Anderson said. "Since that time, I think it will be generally admitted that while we still have a number of old and poor one-room school buildings, that the general average is much higher. But we still have several hundred one-room school houses with an attendance of less than ten pupils.

Col. Hess Returns From Europe; Says Nations Must Aid Germany Now

Col. H. R. Hess

POLITICAL conditions in Europe are worse, but economical conditions are getting better, according to Col. R. H. Hess, 137 Prospect ave., who has recently returned from the continent where he was on a special mission for the secretary of war. He has been in the government service since 1917 when he resigned from the professorship of economics at the University of Wisconsin to become attached to the headquarters mission of the A. E. F.

He has been released by the war department but has made no future plans.

"There will be no permanent change for the better in Europe until two definite actions have been taken. First, a temporary moratorium must be granted Germany in order to help her maintain her industries and regain her foreign trade so she can pay reparations to France. If some definite arrangement could be established, Germany could make tremendous strides in the next six months toward a settlement of her obligations.

"Second, a refunding agreement among the United States, France and Great Britain must be made regarding international loans. I do not mean a cancellation by any means, but after reparations has been paid to some extent the allied countries could start repaying the United States. This, of course, will be a long time coming, probably 10 years at the least. I believe that the Dawes committee will do great things in helping Europe back to normalcy and that if the recommendation of this body are carried out we shall soon see a turn for the better.

"The Poincare-French policy toward Germany is doomed to failure. It is too much of a load for France to carry and with a lukewarm friendship on the part of Great Britain and Italy. France can not be blamed for her attitude toward Germany, because neither the United States nor Great Britain pledged their support to the country in case of an unprovoked attack.

The big chance to revive Europe after the peace treaty would have been this promise. French political leaders can now see that with the new regime in Germany there may be a chance of negotiating trade treaties which will keep peace on the continent for a breathing spell."

Col. Hess believes that the United States should have joined the League of Nations.

"The Anglo-Saxon combination of the United States and Great Britain would have maintained peace," he said. "We hold the key to the situation because the British will follow us and in turn Italy and Belgium will follow England. There you have the keystone of the structure. The talk of our being embroiled in European tangles does not carry much weight. The United States is past the provincial stage or should be, and if we are to take our place in the world we should learn the game we will be required to play. If we are to shut ourselves up with a wall around us, our world power and prosperity will be declining each year.

"The power of the boycott is greater than armies and I do not believe that we would be required to keep a large force because we joined the league. The United States is the producer of raw materials, Europe, with cheap labor, no land for production and an increasing population, must be the manufacturing center. Inter-trade is the life-blood of one and the prosperity of the other. We have been entering into the world business circles ever since the Erie canal enriched the farmers of the Mississippi valley. We cannot develop by trading within the country"

While on the continent Prof. Hess made several trips into England and Germany, where he was a close observer of the economical and political conditions of these nations.

"England is in bad shape because of a lack of markets," he said. "Unemployment is tremendous, but the government is not able to do much because France has maneuvered her into a bad place where she can only sit and wait for an opening. France backed Turkey, and England backed Greece in the recent eastern tangle with the result that these markets are dominated by the French. England does not want to lose them, and consequently does not protest too vigorously about the Ruhr invasion and other policies with which she is certainly not in accord. The French are none to certain of England's "comrade inarms" spirit, because she believes that the Union Jack follows the pound sterling and is not guided by emotions where its trade is concerned.

Former Premier Briand was almost won over to the English viewpoint after the conference with British leaders at Cannes, but his cabinet resigned shortly afterward when not sustained in the house of deputies. Clemenceau is still very active despite his age, but has never been able to realize why the United States rejected the treaty and the league after the important part taken by Woodrow Wilson.

"I believe that Russia will continue with the soviet government in power," said Dr. Hess. "Most of the European and Oriental powers have come to the conclusion that the experiment will work out satisfactorily and have stopped thinking about the bolsheviks and the other troubles of their former ally."

Colonel Hess believes hat there is a possibility of royalty being restored in Germany. The Hohenzollerns will never be permitted to come back, but a democratic monarchy similar to that of England may come.

Heifetz Will Play Tonight At U. W. Gym

Premier Violinist Makes First Madison Appearance In Recital

Jascha Heifetz, Russian violinist, will make his first appearance in Madison tonight in the last of the Union board concert series at the men's gymnasium at 8:15o'clock. About 150 rush seats at $2 each will be on sale at the door tonight. A few reserved seats are still available at Hook's Music store.

Although Mr. Heifetz is only 25 years old, he has made a reputation in Europe and on this continent both as a technician and as a musician of emotional power. He began his study of the violin at the age of three years and made his public debut in Kovno, Russia, at the age of six, playing the Mendelssohn concerto before an audience of 1,000. After studying with Leopold Auer, teacher of such famous violinists as Elfrem Zimbalist and Mischa Elman, he played in concert in the principal countries of Europe.

Mr. Heifetz, forced out of Russia because of the conditions there, came to America in 1917 and made his debut in Carnegie hall, New York City. Because of the instantaneous success of the first concert he was presented for the second time immediately afterward.

Special Badger Election Is Ordered By Board

A special election of all men and women electors to vote upon the reorganization of the present Badger board and the election of the editor-in-chief and business manager of the Badger by the board instead of by open election, was set for Friday March 28, at a special meeting of the student senate held in the Union building last night.

The amendment as drafted provides for a board consisting of four juniors, the editor-in-chief and business manager of the previous Badger, and two members of the faculty, one from the Course in Journalism and one from the Course in Commerce.

The editor-in-chief and business manager are to be chosen from among the sophomores on the staff who have shown the best qualifications, and they must have had at least one year's experience on the appropriate department of the Badger. The election is to be by three-fourths majority of the board, and must include the vote of the faculty members.

For the present year the Badger board members are to be elected at the regular spring elections, and will elect the editor-in-chief and business manager immediately. Elections under the above provisions are to take place next fall.

Cashman Answers Editorial In Cardinal On U. W. Free Speech; Cites 'Debs Incident Last Year

A communication was printed in the Daily Cardinal, University daily today from Sen. John E. Cashman, member of the board of regents, denouncing Professors Potter and Fish as pro-British and favoring the League of Nations.

Senator Cashman takes issue with the Cardinal editorial claiming that no free speech or free thought exists at the university, and cites, to corroborate his statement, the incident of last spring when lights in the gymnasium were mysteriously turned out while Eugene V. Debs was on the platform.

The Letter in Full:

Editor, The Cardinal:

Since when has the University of Wisconsin become the champion of free thought and academic freedom?

If ever academic freedom, including free thought, free speech and a forum for the expression of liberal ideas, shows signs of returning to the university, I shall be the first to extend a welcome.

Never mind going back two years for a bouquet. Return to the night last summer when Debs arose to speak. Suddenly the lights were put out of commission and for nearly an hour, 3,000 people including hundreds of women and children, sat in utter darkness. What if there had been a stampede? What has been done to apprehend the guilty and prevent a recurrence by the apostles of free thought at this seat of learning?

I beg to inform you that pro-British propaganda is not a "legitimate activity" for professors in a university maintained by the people of Wisconsin.

You allege that in a speech before the Regents I attacked Professors Fish and Potter. You are mistaken. It is their record that attacks them and brands them as pro-British propagandists. I produced their record from your paper, The Cardinal. So your fight is with yourself and with your own paper. Go back four years to your files for March, 1920, which shows Prof. Fish has long been a British propagandist. Likewise as to Prof. Potter, the evidence is in your paper which I read to the Regents.

You admit, at least by inference that what I said is true and that a law may have been violated, but you make a special plea of justification on the ground of academic freedom.

Let me inform you, please, that you cannot excuse pro-British propaganda at the University of Wisconsin under the cloak of academic freedom, nor can you justify the violation of a statute by attacking a regent. The law applies to the regents; it is their duty to see that it also applies to professors.

Resign? Some gall by recipients of the munificence of Wisconsin taxpayers. Some check by promoters at the university, of Rhodes' scheme, "the extension of British rule throughout the world" and "the ultimate recovery of the United States of America as an integral part of the British Empire."

No, not until I have driven this propaganda from the university and restored the spirit of America and the ideals of its freedom. The only thing that might induce me to resign would be an endorsement by the Tory members of the faculty.

JOHN E. CASHMAN.
Member, Board of Regents.

Why Stay Fat? You Can Reduce

The answer of most fat people is that it is too hard, too troublesome and too dangerous to force the weight down. Marmola Prescription Tablets overcome all these difficulties. They are absolutely harmless, entail no dieting or exercise, and have the added advantage of cheapness. A box is sold at one dollar by all druggists the world over, or send the price direct to the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. Now that you know this, you have no excuse for being fat, but can reduce steadily and easily without going through long sieges of tiresome exercise and starvation diet or fear of bad effects. —Adv.

L. A. Champion Waits 18 Years For Help

Many Doctors Had Different Ideas What Caused Stomach Trouble

"I suffered from stomach trouble for 18 years. Saw many doctors, also stomach specialists. Some said it was catarrh of the stomach, some gall stones, some ulcer of the stomach and some appendicitis. After taking Adlerika (intestinal antiseptic) I feel better than for years and am no longer bothered with gas." (Signed) L. A. Champion.

Intestinal Antiseptic

There is now offered to the public a preparation having the DOUBLE action of an intestinal antiseptic and a COMPLETE system cleanser. This preparation, known as Adlerika, acts as follows:

It tends to eliminate or destroy harmful germs and colon bacili in the intestinal canal, thus guarding against appendicitis and other diseases having their start here.

It is the most complete system cleanser ever offered to the public, acting on BOTH upper and lower bowel and removing foul matter which poisoned the system for months and which nothing else can dislodge. It brings out all gases, thus immediately relieving pressure on the heart. It is astonishing the great amount of poisonous matter Adlerika draws from the alimentary canal—matter you never thought was in your system. Try it right after a natural movement and notice how much more foul matter it brings out which was poisoning you. In slight disorders, such as occasional constipation, sour stomach, gas on the stomach and sick headache, one spoonful Adlerika ALWAYS brings relief. A longer treatment, however, is necessary in cases of obstinate constipation and long standing stomach trouble, preferably under direction of your physician.

Reports from Physicians

"I found Adlerika the best in my entire 37 years' experience." (Signed) Dr. G. Eggers.

"I use Adlerika in all bowel cases. Some require only one dose." (Signed) Dr. F. M. P. (Name given on request.)

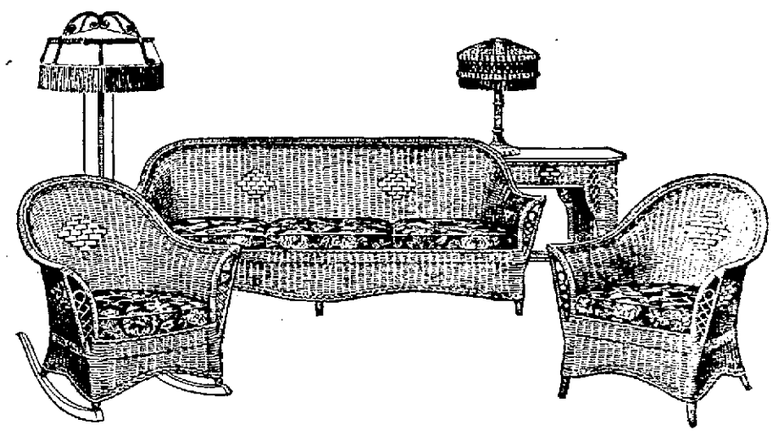

"I have found nothing in my 50 years' practice to excel Adlerika." (Signed) Dr. James Weaver.

"After taking Adlerika feel better than for 20 years. Haven't language to express the AWFUL IMPURITIES eliminated from my system." (Signed) J. E. Puckett.

Adlerika is a constant surprise to people who have used only ordinary bowel and stomach medicines, on account of its rapid, pleasant and COMPLETE action. It is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Sidelights On Primary

FOUR thousand, two hundred eighty-four Madison voters helped Clyde A. Gallagher celebrate his 34th birthday on Tuesday. Mr. Gallagher says it was the best birthday present he ever received. Mr. Gallagher beginning his 35th year on Wednesday was looking forward to the regular election day, Apr. 1, with great anticipation.

Richard Doran and Sidney Gay, paired for the nomination for the common council in the ninth ward, are brothers-in-law.

There was a real old time primary battle staged in the ninth ward Tuesday, with seven candidates seeking the nomination as aldermen and four in the race for supervisor.

Mayor Kittleson polled 4,238 votes in the primary two years ago. His total vote Tuesday was 4,558. He had a plurality of 1,104 in his race against Frank C. Blied two years ago, compared with his lead of 274 against Gallagher on Tuesday.

The first ward turned out more than twice as many voters Tuesday as it did two years ago, at the primary. Two years ago 325 votes were cast while on Tuesday 672 voters visited the polls.

It is estimated by officials that but a little more than half of the voters were out Tuesday. Two years ago at the last mayoralty contest a total of 15,078 votes were cast. With the addition of the old South Madison population about 750 more voters have been added to the city.

Carl Moe, city treasurer, polled the highest individual vote Tuesday. His total was 7,694. S. B. Schein, candidate for justice of the peace in the ninth ward, was second with 1118.

The name of Mrs. Mary Klusmann, widow of the late William Klusmann, police patrolman, was written in for justice of the peace 11 times in the fourth ward. F. H. Diffendorff was written on fourth ward ballots for justice of the peace 21 times.

The tenth ward proved to be Mayor Kittleson's forte at the primary yesterday. This ward gave Kittleson a 330 vote plurality over Gallagher. The vote was 535 to 205.

The election officials in the first precinct of the ninth ward "earned" their salaries Tuesday. A recount made necessary when some extra ballots were discovered about midnight, kept the officials at the booth until nearly 4 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The tenth ward was a "standpat" ward at Tuesday's primary. Its voters supported the present mayor and its present alderman by big majorities over their opponents, and turned out a solid vote for A. O. Barton, candidate for supervisor, and for Henry Casson, candidate for justice of the peace.

While the tenth ward vote Tuesday was not registered in full by any means, there were 280 more votes cast than at the primary two years ago. A total of 740 ballots were marked for mayor on Tuesday.

The ninth ward brought out the largest number of voters to the polls Tuesday. A total of 1,579 persons visited the polls. This was 520 more than were cast at the primary in 1922.

Carl Marks was nominated for justice of the peace in the second precinct of the fifth ward Tuesday with Newell H. Dodge. Marks' name was written in 36 times. Dodge, who was on the ballot registered 215. Dodge received 512 votes in the first precinct.

A feature of the balloting Tuesday is seen in the fact that each of the mayoralty candidates made big inroads into his opponent's. Kittleson received 622 of the 1,440 votes cast for mayor in Gallagher's territory, the sixth ward. Gallagher, in turn, took 168 of the total of 442 cast for mayor in the second ward, Kittleson's ward.

Clyde A. Gallagher carried the eigth ward in decisive manner at the primary. He polled 4?8 votes to Kittleson's 174.

A total of 8,842 votes were cast in the primary election on Tuesday for mayor.

Aged Baraboo Civil War Vet Dies Tuesday

Baraboo High Net Team Presented With Medal

(By Special Correspondent)

BARABOO, Wis.—George J. Paddock, 80 years old, veteran of the civil war, died Tuesday morning at his home on Ninth ave. Besides his wife, he leaves two sons, Ernest and Edward, both of Baraboo.

Members of the local high school basketball team were presented with silver medals. Those who received medals were: Captain Hayward, Boyd, Lenihan, Harris, Pease, Mould, Weber, Gafke and Reuland. Presentation was made by Miss Kathryn Falvey of the high school faculty.

Over 300 attended the annual St. Patrick's banquet given at St. Joseph's parochial school Monday night. After the banquet an address was given by M. K. Reilly of Fond du Lac. The speaker was introduced by Judge James H. Hill. Musical selections were given by Mrs. L. J. Pierson, Jr., and Mrs. Robert Fogle, and a recitation by Mrs. Paul Miller.

Miss Ione Woodworth, First st., entertained the G. G. G. club at a St. Patrick's day party at her home Monday night.

Mrs. Al. Ringling, 720 Ash st., has returned from McGregor, Ia., where she visited her sister, Mrs. Maria Dames.

The regular meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club was held Monday night. A club was held Monday night. A program consisted of musical selections by the Misses Dorothy Moog, Helen and Hazel Ruhland, Ethel Rodwell, and a song-story, "The Little Brown Church in the Vale," by Mrs. Carrie Nutting.

Dewey Halberman of Madison has purchased the Schilling paint shop on Birch st.

A marriage license has been issued here to Benjamin Giese and Olive Anderson, both of Black Hawk.

V. H. Cady, city attorney, will be a delegate from the seventh congressional district to the presidential convention pledged to Alfred E. Smith, governor of New York.

A cast of 75 high school students will present "The Mikado," at the Al Ringling theatre Thursday night, Mar. 27. Among those in the cast are: Diehl Snyder, Lloyd Rooney, Dorothy Black, Inez Oyan, Louis Romelfanger, Owen Smith, Donald Moore, Marguerite Goude and Helen Hazeltine.

Baxter and Seguin Lead Field In Superior Vote

SUPERIOR, Wis.—Fred A. Baxter, present mayor, and Fred J. Seguin, were nominated for mayor out of 9 candidates of Superior yesterday in one of the hottest primary fights ever held in the city. E. L. Hanton was third in the race, with Newell Williams, former service man, fourth. More than 11,000 votes were cast, setting a new record.

BERLIN—The supreme court at Leipsic has sentenced a Swiss motion picture manager named Bienz to 11 years penal servitude for espionage on behalf of France. Two German soldier accomplices and a woman were given 13, two and a half and two years, respectively.

WASHINGTON—There are 3,000,000 coffee cows and 750,000 tea cows in the U. S., the department of agriculture estimated today in announcing the results of a study of the milk and cream requirements of the tea and coffee drinkers of the nation.

This The Talk Of The City!

Spring Opening In Madison Stores Today Brings Fashion World to Forefront of Interest

Symphony of Colors Used For Male Toggery This Year

Mannish Styled Tailleurs, Straight Lines in Gowns, and Swagger Top Coats Lead the Mode, Monograms, Fobs, Colored Crepe Kerchiefs, Flary Capelets, Gardenias, and Carefree Scarves Relieve the Trigness.

The fashion stage is set. The scenery is ready. Rehearsals have bene going on for months. And when the first spring day dawns, Miss Fashion, in the role of the leading lady, will open in the spring play. Spring style details are awaiting their cues.

Women en masse have captured every desirable phase of masculine attire for their very own this year. Nothing has escaped their pirating propensities, from the smartly tailored lapels of his coat and the bosom of his shirt to the very fabric of his suit.

Short! Straight! Slender! Shorter skirts, straight effects, long, slender lines, they are still predominant in style tendencies this season. And whether applied to coats, suits, dresses or wraps, the smartest line is the straight line between these two points.

Short, flary capelets on spring suits and frocks, detachable capes on two piece costumes, cape collars, and long cape effects on swagger sports costumes—all evidence the popularity and becomingness of the cape adjunct for spring.

Trig, Boyish Tailleur Suits

The fashion foremost this spring is the tailored suit, particularly the O'Rossen type of the severely styled mannish tailleur. Coats are straight and either boxy or fitted at the waist. Fabrics are men's suitings, mohair alpaca, hairline stripes, covert cloth and mixtures. Colors are navy blue, black and white, grey, and golden tans.

The costume suit which has been gaining momentum for several seasons past blossoms forth for conservative tastes. Models come in moire or faille crepe with plain or printed crepe blouses and jacket linings. They are the Jenny type, a three quarter length coat, tunic blouse and skirt.

Top Coat Is Tailored

You will enjoy endless satisfaction in a new top coat. They can be worn confidently on every occasion. The fabrics, the tailoring, the silhouettes are all that practicability demands. Of novelty woolens, camel's hair, flannel finish woolens, in plaids, striped effects, mixtures, and plaid tones, these coats are more frequently three quarter lenght. Some have cape backs, others scarf collars.

The youthful straight line mode has been sponsored by Paris and adopted by the American woman for new spring wraps. Coats and wraps fashioned of fine twills and heavy satins show the new epaulet shoulder and inner facing pockets. Smart models in navy, black, green and tan are apropriate for street and formal wear.

Frocks Show Severity

The newest frocks have straight, slim lines, but their pencil like severity is relieved by panels, cascades, and cape effects. Gay touches of embroidery, the puffed peasant sleeve, and the Mandarin collar are among the novel effects that contribute to their beauty.

For afternoon there are lovely frocks in moire, charmeuse, and printed silks of all kinds, with exquisite ace trimmings. Sleeves follow three trends. Some are long and tight, others are flaring or puffed, a great many are very, very short.

Skirts are very straight and very plain. For sports wear there are stunning stripes and checks. Skirts for street wear are about eight inches from the floor. For afternoon and sportwear they are at least ten inches from the floor.

Fashion dictates new tailored blouses of chambray for the severe tailleur. It has a mannish collar and link cuffs. For the costume suit there is white satin, moire, or crepe back satin, with a "V" neck, draped shoulder line and edges bound in black silk.

Scarfs are becoming and carefree relieve the severity of everything else. Scarf collars, separate or detachable, are the thing.

Trimmings Are Necessary

You may as well buy a lot without a house on it as buy a spring costume and omit the accessories, so vital to offset. The monogram and fob appear everywhere this spring. Gauntlet gloves, colored crepe handkerchiefs, hosiery in some 53 different tints, gardenias, embroidered ribbon ties, and fascinating mottoes.

Bud Vases, Lamps and Useful Gifts Chosen For Favors

The present tendency in favors is to get away from the formerly inevitable vanity case, so long given and to give more useful articles. They have been replaced by such things as bud vases, library sets, torchiers, lamps, swagger sticks, bracelets, bookends, perfumers and bridge sets. Pins with crests are no longer given. Men's favors include bridge sets, cigarette cases, paper knives and belt buckles.

Place cards and nut cups show a surprising variety, and are very chic in their bright colors and novel art work. Easter bunnies and brilliantly colored eggs are already appearing for the Easter festivities.

Braided sweaters—The use of braid and embroidery on sweaters is a new note. The jacquet, Mandarin, and slip on styles in heavy silk are the newest.

Goodbye to the waistline in skirts for spring. The back is flat, and the skirt slips down upon the hips in true French style.

Lace has ever been a clever weapon of the feminine world. Lace always plays on the sympathies and romantic tendencies of the masculine world. Lace is used alluringly in charming new ways on the spring frocks.

Decidedly New!

Swishy, flarry taffeta, crisp, billowy taffeta, in novelty patterns and flowered effects, looms up for spring dresses.

Soft greys and tans predominate in spring hosiery. Clocks are much in evidence. Chiffon is still a leader.

Chic, flarry short jaquettes of caracul, squirrel, and chinchilla have saucy lines.

The short, fat Tom Thumb umbrellas emphasize the pert boyishness of a spring tailleur ensemble. They come in every color with ivory, bakelite, or amber handles.

Leather appliques are smart on sport hats.

Cloches with turned up or slightly rolled brims are very good.

Long tunics are getting better every day.

The Chinese neckline and Chinese embroidery have places among spring dresses.

Satin and Spanish lace may be combined very cleverly.

Dots are unusual this spring for they come in graduated sizes.

Monograms are particularly desirable for pouch bags.

The gauntlet gloves are fancier and prettier and smarter than ever before.

Flowing veils fall in graceful folds and come in lovely, delicate embroidered patterns.

The slip-on sweater model, with its deep under the arm holes and its "V" neck, is alway trimmed with a tricolor border in contrasting shades.

Kerchiefs of chiffon are gayly printed in all the new spring shades. The smartest use of all is to have one saucily fling from the pocket of a tailored suit.

The monogrammed tie must be found somewhere about the tailored blouse. Ties of silk have monograms embroiderd or appliqued at the very end.

The waistcoat is one of the tailleurs smartest adjuncts. It carries out admirably the mannish effect. Waistcoats are fashioned frequently of white pique or broadcloth, sometimes of gay prints.

Blouses bear a close resemblance to a man's shirt. The vestee front blouse comes in dimity, English broadcloth, and silk, with tucked vestee. Colors are white, maize, or powder blue.

Black in combination with white, carmel, rust tones, almond green, and poudre blue are popular in dress shades. Roman striped georgette has been shown much consideration.

Dashing and smart are the new print frocks. Novel pleating, very short sleeves, and graceful panels all contribut to their loveliness.

Half the fun of new things is having them before everybody else does.

Mah-Jong perfume—It is called "Garden Wall" and comes in a little red lacquer box which contains four Ma-Jong tiles, the seasons. Each tile is a small container holding a bit of perfume, the fragrance of some flower that grows about garden walls.

Cube beads—The newest crystal necklaces are cut in square cube shapes. They are sometimes strung with small onyx beads between each cube. They sparkle and gleam.

Bathing capes—Bathing capes come in rubberized alpaca with brilliant diagonal stripes of various colors. Rubberized alpaca is smart this year.

Powder blue—Powder blue is the color that will predominate in the Easter parade. A touch or a great deal makes no difference, but powder blue must be represented.

Sport frocks—The smart sport frocks are all two piece. Many of the skirts are pleated, while blouses are straight and slim. Silk shirting, striped flannel, and silk alpaca fashion the frocks with no limit to brilliant coloring.

Stripes are awfully smart. Convict bracelets with their clanky chains are irresistible.

The "V" Sweater

Again the masculine style in sweaters is mimicked in the co-ed V necked feminine sweater, cut deeply underneath the arms or fitted with long sleeves that carry the same two or tri-colored contrasting bands on the cuffs as run around the neck band.

Rainbow Tints in Spring Materials Fill The Shops

Platinum Grey, Fawn, Powder, Blue and Almond Green Are Best Colors

Rainbow tints of spring are to be found in the new materials which now fill the shops. No one color can be said to be the favorite because all colors are there in abundance and all of them are good.

Sport flannels are one of the biggest sellers a this time. It comes 54 inches wide and sells a $3.75 and $4 a yard. A yard and three quarters is ample to make a short sleeved dress according to the buyers at one of the department stores. Platinum grey, fawn, powder blue, almond green, and tile are among the attractive new colors shown.

Cashmere velour, which has a weave very similar to that of flannel comes in a lighter weight and is also 54 inches wide. The range of colors in this is not quite so complete as in the sport flannels. Wool crepes are also being widely shown for spring wear in many novelty shades as well as the more staple hues. This sells at $4.50 a yard.

Popular too are the velour checks, a light weight material made with oblong, square, or diamond check effects. When the check lines are of a contrasting color the two tone combination is called English sport check.

Silk and wool crepes come in fascinating checker and plain effects, selling at $4 for the 50 inch width.

"Jersey is very strong in favor in the eastern markets now," one of the local buyers declared, "which means that in a month or so it will be the thing here. It is not like the old flimsy jersey, however, for it is of extra heavy quality and of close weave."

Silk materials are as inevitable for spring as April showers. Those especially good this year are the crepe back satins, crepe de chines, crepe files, russianaire crepes. Because of the black and white fad the materials combining these materials are selling fast. Prices range from $2.75 to $5.50 a yard.

Printed crepes are among the leaders, with bright figures to make them vivid. Grey, tan, dark blue, and copenhagen blue are combined in a number of different ways. Jaunty bouquets and chinese figures make the patterns interesting.

The printed cantons are even newer, many of them featuring a small provincial design in black on a tan background.

Soft Fabrics For Lingerie Models Show Freshness

Spring, with all its lightness and brightness, has invaded the realm of lingerie and brought its color and freshness in. Winter woolens have departed for regions farther north, and in their stead are such soft fabrics as silk jersey, crepe de chine, voile, fine French batiste and handkerchief linen. The plain blacks and whites of winter are supplemented by the most captivating pastel shades, canary yellow, orchid, peach and a new pinkish shade, honeydew.

Underthings are plainer than ever. Some of the models are almost tailored in their simplicity. Hemstitching is used on everything. Nighties, side ins, teddies, pajamas, all use it. Irish lace trims the top of the daintiest teddies. Filet lace is being used a great deal too. Some of the things have touches of embroidery on them.

Who is to Blame for Fashions? Did Man or Woman Start It?

If it is granted that the fashions of women are absurd, wasteful, and atrocious, who is to blame for them? Is it the women who wear them or the men who expect the women to wear them?

"All admiration for adornment that is in vogue is due almost entirely to the mental contagion" said C. G. Dittmer, professor of economics. "Generally our styles are atrocious and in our saner moments we recognize them as such. But they brand ourselves, our wives, and our sisters as stylish and that is all that matters. No matter how much men rave about the fashion absurdities, they want their women to adopt them."

There is absolutely no basis of usefulness in fashions, according to Mr. Dittmer. Any practicalness that may be found in them is merely accidental and incidental, for he states that they exist primarily as competitive factors in prestige.

In spite of the fact that women are seeing greater freedom in dress, he does not believe that there has been a steady progressive tendency. Bobbed hair has just resulted from a desire for change and not, he declares, because women deemed this new hairdress more convenient or sanitary. But he expressed the hope that bobbed hair among a few other sensible fashions would remain to stay.

"We think that fashionable clothes are beautiful and we actually go to admire them; but see how we laugh at them a few years later," Mr. Dittmer exclaimed.

"It takes a country of growth and economic prosperity to follow the fashion craze to the limit," he declared. "Older countries are much more stable in their dress. Old-new countries, like Japan and China, due to economic prosperity and the influence of America are beginning to have fashions.

"In Shanghai, the Paris of China, fashions are not so much in cut as in color. So far the fashionable lady, whole wardrobes have to be discarded with a single change of color tone."

Twenty-three live models, many of them students, will exhibit new spring fashions at a style show to be given at the Parkway theater by Loken Brothers, and Olson & Veerhusen stores, tonight, tomorrow and Friday evenings.

Special sets have been obtained as background for each scene. There will also be a draping of living models by Mr. Webster, display manager of Loken's. The display of fashions will last about 25 minutes and will be given at each performance.

Some of the sartorial leaders in the city will act as live models when the Madison store windows are unveiled at 7 o'clock tonight, revealing the latest apparrel approved by Dame Fashion.

Gay Hose, Scarf, Kerchief, Liven Sport Costumes

Smartness of Outfits Depends on Bright Touches In Details

A sports costume will fail in smartness if the hat, gloves, hose, shoes and other accesories are not appropriate.

Sport hats should always be simple, and this season they must be chosen to harmonize with the vivid colors of the sport dresses. Some of the smartest are of suede, chamois, felt or materials matching the dress, made along the lines of the small "cloche" which fits the head and shades the eyes and has been found so becoming and so comfortable.

Gloves must be of the plainest, and shoes of a walking, not an afternoon type. The high heel is taboo in sports, although the flatheeled, strapped slipper it not out of pace. Chamois gloves, or double-faced cotton gloves in a shade just off white, should be selected also for sports wear.

Hose of a silk and lisle mixture, in plaids, stripes, checks and crossed bar effects to match or harmonize with the sports outfit are dictated for spring wear.

Among the attractive innovations for the sport dress this year is the sport scarf, which has come to be a most important requisite for every smart wardrobe. It is not only a graceful bit of adornment, but a flourish of color to set off the extreme simplicity of the sport dress. The scarf may be attached to the hat, the coat, the sweater, the dress or it may be separate, but it must be a part of every smart costume.

Although the old winter suit and dress is very unpleasant this time of the year, it will serve very nicely for another month if freshened with a crisp new blouse, or set of collar and cuffs. Besides white, the new spring blouses are being shown in lovely pastel shades, in both the overblouse and the tuck in type. For the tailored type of dress, a set of ecru-color broadcloth collar and gauntlet cuffs, tucked in a cross-cuff set of linen or pique with a gaily colored silk tie, is exceptionally good. Of all accessories collars barred effect, or an ecru collar and cuffs seem to add the most feminine flattery to a costume.

Parisian Tailors Allow Men to Doff Few Freaks

In Paris the tailor rules supreme over the populace, in London the laymen dictate to the tradesmen, but the Parisian tailor is beginning to cast longing eyes towards the English system of creating styles.

In the single breasted suits the two buttoned style prevails, with the top one buttoned and coming at the waist line. The lapels are long and rolling soft, displaying much of the waist coat. Another habit peculiar to the Frenchman is the high waist coat, which covers much of the tie and shirt.

Ribbon trims show the popular and becoming huge bow effect.

Fashion Offers Suits to Suit All Spring Devotees

Maids Become Slender, Sophisticated, Boyish Because of Spring Models

An authoritative resume of spring fashions in suits is taken from "The Breath of the Avenue", the exclusive copyrighted New York last note service, kindly furnished us by Kesenich's department store.

1. The fitted tailleur, single or double breasted, with the nipped in waist line, especially becoming to the rather sophisticated type of woman who is of average height or tall with a slender yet rounded figure.

2. The double breasted boyish suit with fairly short jacket, most effective when worn by a young woman with rather slender hips.

3. The boyish suit with longer jacket, almost to the finger tips, becoming to the slightly more mature woman and flattering to a more rounded figure.

4. The two button, single breasted coat with very short jacket, a cut that belongs to the very young and very slender girl. It is really a junior style for the sub deb and her slightly younger sister.

5 The two button suit with longer jacket, becoming to the slender rounded figure. A suit with a knack for making hips look boyishly slender.

6 The three button single breasted suit, a very boyish suit that belongs to the extremely slender, boyish type of girl.

7. The link button cut away with short jacket, a style that lends height to a short figure and looks especially well on young women who are petite and rounded like Ann Pennington.

A Tough Situation

"My wife and four children were dependent on me for their living. My stomach and liver trouble of five years had made me despondent, as no medicine seemed to help me, and I was gradually wasting away. It was a tough situation. My cousin in Columbus wrote me about having taken Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and advised me to try it. I am now feeling better than for fifteen years." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—Adv.

Colors Run Riot In Vivid Spring Hosiery Styles

Mah-Jong, Fruits, Vegetables, Seasons and Freckles For Names

"Green dragon, east wind, Ma-Jong!" No, the young lady at the hosiery counter is not playing the Oriental game with the clerk, but merely selecting her hosiery for spring. For all the colors of the Ma-Jong game including Ma-Jong itself will be exceedingly popular for footwear. Ma-Jong is a yellowish tan, east wind a faint pink, and green dragon an ethereal shade of pale green. Bamboo, green season, and red dragon are found on the hosiery counter as well as in the Chinese game.

"The nakedest shade ever worn on the foot." This is the best description that has been given for ficelle, a pale flesh colored hose which is one of the best of the light shades for spring wear.

The question has often been asked, "where are the romantic poets of former years who starved in garrets?" They must be employed in hosiery factories to name the new shades, which the artists are creating, judging by te names given them: illusion, dawn, sunset, moonlight, cloud, blush, platine, Sahara, and Belgique. Illulsion has a faint green tint suggestive of seafoam and butterfly wings.

Feminine Spring Attire Has Masculine Lines This Season

Colorful Accessories Add Life to Somble Effects. Tweeds and Homespuns Reign in Materials Worsteds Decline. College Man Favors Three-Button Coats Low Pockets and Rolling Lapels Prevail.

A symphony of colors. That is the keynote in men's fashions for spring. The plain suiting materials will be more beautiful than the cloth used last spring, and the colorful accessories will tend to give more life to the entire effect, Madison merchants say.

Bluish grey will be the predominating color. The coat will be loose, easy fitting, while the trousers will be 18 inches at the bottom and 19 or 20 inches at the knee, with a 2 inch cuff. Tweeds and homespuns are considered the best material, while worsteds are on the decline.

The three button coat remains in favor with the college man, and although some students still ask to see the two button suit they usually leave the store with a three button suit instead. Pockets will be low, the lapels rolling, and the bottom of the coat cutaway. There will be no vents in the coat.

Topcoats Are Loose

Five button vests are still popular, and the corners are blunt. Merchants predict a sprinkling of double breasted suits.

The swing of the pendulum towards loser fitting clothes for men is on the upgrade, and practically the same styles will be in next fall. For years the styles have been creeping away from the tight fitting suits and high waistlines, and now the reaction is well under way, and will probably continue for several years, until the cycle turns back again.

Loose fitting topcoats will be in style. The shoulders will be set in. Bluish grey will be the most popular color, and there will be some demand for tans and other light colors.

Light Brown Shoes in Style

To top off the suit, pearl grey hats are in style. Most of the hats have plain black bands, but some stores are showing a few hat bands with green and red stripes in every degree of flashing colors.

The majority of the hats in stock now have curled brims, and are the best sellers, but there is some call for the straight brim which may be turned down in the front and back. The block is made by greasing down the center.

Approximately 40 per cent of the shoes sold have plain toes one store reports, and other merchants confirm this report, although they say that the plain toe will continue strong during the spring and summer. About the only difference this spring is in the color, which is light brown. Scotch grains continue to sell, but the plain calf is the leading thing.

Caps have made their appearance on the campus as they usually precede the spring drive on hats to afford a relief from winter headwear. The eight piece cap with small visor is back again, although some students remain faithful to the flat cap.

It seems an impossible task to separate the college man from the plain white shirt with attached collar. In the East long pointed collars are in, and the collar pin has been revived there and at Palm Beach, but college men all over the country have neglected the latest innovation of the manufacturers.

Bright colored ties will be the agency to offset the plain colors of the suits. Butterfly and bat wings are the popular bow ties, in almost any color and design. English knit ties of the better grade are being displayed in the stores.

The latest fashion cable from Paris reads "Monograms newest detail on smart bathing suits."

White and Gray Shades Replace Bright Stationery

That colored stationary is on the decline and that the most popular shades are white and gray was the opinion expressed by the leading stationers here.

The large square or oblong envelopes, lined or unlined are most in demand. The linings were usually red, blue or silver, but lately there has been a call for orange. The more brilliant the linings are, the more popular they seem to be. The new sand shade paper is good, especially if it has a gold lining. Monograms to match the color of the lining of the envelope are decidedly good although gold and silver monograms are used to quite an extent.

The present day taste in stationary is more conservative as to color than the previous taste was. Brilliant pinks, greens and lavendars are absolutely passe, the tendency being towards white or delicate gray.

Ravelled edge stationary has taken the place of the formerly popular gold edged stationary. The envelope flaps are not pointed but square. Men use the long unfolded paper and girls the folded.

As to fabric, parchment, kid finished, angora paper, and thin Chinese paper has replaced linen paper. The Louis XIV paper, a white paper with a thin line, seems to be quite a favorite.

Coming at Head of Orchestra

Henri Verbrugghen, who will conduct the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra at a concert to be given in Madison Apr.1, under the auspices of the Madison Orchestral Association, has been selected permanent conductor of the orchestra.

At the time Mr. Verbrugghen was employed, the orchestra management was in a position to secure almost any one of the great conductors in America or abroad. Mr. Verbrugghen was not alone the unanimous choice of the orchestra management, but of the players themselves. Mr. Verbrugghen's avowed purpose is to do all within his power to increase love for great music.

Mr. Verbrugghen and the Minneapolis Orchestra will give a concert in the University Armory on Tuesday evening, Apr. 1, under the auspices of the Madison Orchestral Association.

Season Fancies Do Not Hold Good For Sweets or Flowers

The fondness for candy and flowers knows no season and no age. Back home we bought the girl lolly pops, and picked our own bouquets in the meadows and wood. Few of us still give her lollp pops, we have to buy her sweets at a smart shop. And these shops, too, have interesting spring specialtes whether it be something for the sweet tooth or a cheery flower.

Fruit mallows, raspberry, apricot, mint and green gage with marshmallow are as luscious as they sound. Marzi par lilies and roses and new gum drop designs seen at a shop make dainty favors for the spring luncheons and bridge.

Huge chocolate eggs decorated sorted chocolates herald the Easter with white icing and filled with astime together with the usual colored sugar and chocolate novelties for which most of us still must admit a childish liking. The large eggs can be bought for anything between 75 cents and $4.50.

Edith Zimmerman-James P. Carter Announce Nuptials

The wedding of Edith Zimmerman, a former student at the University of Wisconsin, and James Prescott Carter took place in Milwaukee on Saturday.

Mrs. Carter attended the university in 1919-21 and is a member of Alpha Phi sorority. She is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Zimmerman of Milwaukee.

Mr. Carter received a B. S. degree in 1919 at Virginia military institution and took post-graduate work at the University of Wisconsin in 1920. He is now connected with the Madrid branch of the National City bank of New York City. His home is in Lynchburg, Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter left on a trip to Washington, D. C., New York City and other places in the east and will sail April 15 for a European tour before going to Madrid, Spain, to reside.

Snowfall Makes Travel Slippery on Madison Roads

The light snow which fell in Madison and vicinity making the hard roads slippery and dangerous to traffic, resulted in several minor accidents Monday night.

Two sedans, attempting to turn onto Gilman st., from University ave., about 11 o'clock Monday night, crashed into a telegraph pole.

The Buick sedan carrying 1924 license No. D-15,027 registered as belonging to Mrs. Patrick Casey, 445 W. Doty st., and an Oldsmobile carrying 1924 license No. D-22,258, said to be the property of Prof. H. F. Wilson of the university were damaged.

Two other cars were damaged at the same place earlier in the night.

A sedan belonging to G. A. Helmicks, 5 E. Wilson st., skidded into the curb at Spaight and S. Ingersoll sts. shortly before 9 o'clock on Monday night.

W.C.T.U. Raps Hypocrisy of Dry Officials

Will Ask Rep. Nelson to Fight 2.75 Beer Law

To enforce the outward letter of the law, but not the spirit of the law, cannot bring effective prohibition, in the opinion of Mrs. V. W. Deist, who addressed members of the Madison Central W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. John L. Colby, 1809 Jefferson st., Tuesday afternoon. Prohibition Rally day in honor of the birthday anniversary of Gen. Neal Dowe, the "father of prohibition" and of Mrs. Lillian M. Stevens, former national president, was celebrated at the meeting.

A resolution to send a letter to Cong. John Nelson, voicing the protest of the society against the attempt of 60 members of the House of Representatives to legalize 2.75 per cent beer, was passed.

The members signed a petition asking the Repubican and Democratic national conventions to include in their platforms a declaration favoring the maintenance and enforcement of nation wide prohibition.

In her talk on "Law Enforcement," Mrs. Deist declared that men who do not believe in prohibition can not enforce it.

"Men do not punish people for things they believe are all right," she said. "To have the law enforced, therefore, we must select for office, men who believe in it themselves.

Mrs. Deist approves of jail sentences rather than fines, as effective punishment for violation of the liquor law.

Mrs. J. W. Irish, secretary of the home missionary work of the Methodist church, told about the work of Miss Carrie Adams at the Italian mission. Night school for young men, sewing classes for mothers and girls, a place to play for children, access to books are some of the many benefits which she extends to these residents of "Little Italy," she explained.

Miss Nellie Warner, superintendent of Americanizaton was appointed to make plans for W. C. T. U. members to help in the mission work. Mrs. Theodore P. Faville led in devotions. Miss Marie McKittrick gave several musical numbers. Mrs. Colby was assisted at tea by Mesdames Charles Nelson, S. M. Kier, A. G. Taylor, H. V. Jensen, and S. Sylvester.

Mrs. Flora C. Hopkins, president, welcomed the following new members: Mesdames W. H. Schallert, E. G. Doudna, J. V. Nordgren, Jessie Sagen, Norman B. Henderson, Benjamin H. Hull, Eliza Webster, and Eliza Gardiner.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Child's Hair With

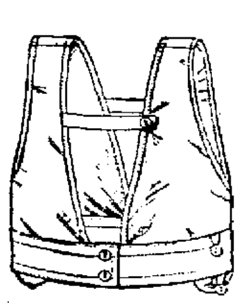

If you want to keep children's hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last for months.—Adv.

Pokes and Pushbacks, Sailors and Cloche Make Spring Shapes

Hats are so lovely this spring that very strong minded the lady must be who waits until Easter to buy her new bonnet.

The new colors are fascinating. One of the loveliest is cosmos, a rich shade of lavendar. Another is Yu Chi, a new shade of green. The color between burnt orange and cocoa which is being featured this spring is called yucatan. The newest Chinese color is Ching blue.

"What shape is the most popular?" repeated the proprietor of one of the smart hat shops. She smiled. "Everything, the pokes, are equally good this season. Small chic pushbacks, sailors and cloche hats are the favorite, but then they usually are this early."

Trimming shows a similar variety. Ribbons, especially fancy shirred effects are very good. Flowers are always a favorite for spring hats. Hand made flowers are the most desired now, it seems. Many of the push back hats show flower fronts. A veil of the same color is usually worn with these.

Small black hats are featuring burnt goose or glycerine ostrich trimming. There is a certain type of costume which demands this sort of hat to add the final touch and for this reason they are always popular.

The March of the Mannequins Proclaims the Spring Modes At Manchester's

Thursday Style Review

2:00 to 3:30—Second Floor

Music by Thompson's Orchestra
Shoes and Boots from Jensen's Boot Shop

New styles for women of 6 to 60. A noteworthy feature of the Manchester Spring Style Review is the complete range of ages and types. Three charming child models are wearing correct apparel for the tiny tot, the very young girl, and the miss in her teens. Styles for the co-ed, the young matron and the woman of more mature years and of larger figure—all are represented.

—Sketched Above

Poke shape sailor of fine black straw, buckle-trimmed, $12.
Suit of hairline stripe poiret with pique vest effect, $62.50.
Hand painted 'kerchief, $1.50.
Swagger stick in black and white with leather wrist strap, $1.75.

Pattern hat of fine novelty straw with metallic scarf to match suit, $24.

New long suit of Madelaine rose charmeen trimmed metal stripe Roman ribbon with matching Mandarin blouse corded in colors, $105.

THE suit is the thing this season, says Paris and New York. Accordingly, Manchester's present the interesting new types of suits in a range of variations to correspond to your individual preferences. The severely tailored suits finds many ways to distinguish itself from its neighbors, by way of vestees, length of coat, of manner of fastening, and above all by the choice of its important accessories.

The new and modish extra long suit coat for street or informal occasions is a becoming advocate of the slender silhouette and chooses black or colors in the finest fabrics. The blouses are almost as long as the coat, and match the lining.

1,000 Women Demand Law Enforcement

Leaders to Meet In Washington April 10-11 to Launch Campaign

Washington Bureau,
The Capital Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A thousand women leaders representatives of the principal women's organizations in the U. S. will hold a national convention in Washington on April 10 and 11 for the purpose of inaugurating a nation-wide campaign for the enforcement of law and observance of the constitution.

Wisconsin women are expected to be largely represented at the convention.

"Moved by the widespread and far-reaching disrespect for law prevalent through the land, scores of the most prominent women of the country in social and civic work have banded themselves together to make the women of the country an organized force for law enforcement," it was announced.

The forthcoming convention will be held under the auspices of the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement which is backed by ten organizations with a total membership of ten million, including the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Young Women's Christian Association and other bodies of similar prominence.

Mrs. Herbert C. Hoover, the wife of the secretary of commerce who has thrown herself whole-heartedly into the work of the national committee will preside over the law enforcement convention and with Mrs. Robert Lansing, wife of the former secretary of state, under the Woodrow Wilson administration, will issue the invitations to the visiting women delegates.

"While the convention is non-political and non-partisan the various organizations that sponsor the national committee are expected to bind themselves to make law enforcement the test of their membership in the forthcoming primaries and the ensuing presidential campaign," it was further stated. "Thus will be mobilized the sentiment of the American womanhood into an active and alert force to compel greater respect for the law. It was the realization on the part of the national leaders among woman citizens that law observance is at a great discount today that led to the launching of a nation wide movement to offset disintegration and demoralizing tendencies. The sponsors of the campaign firmly believe that the half-hearted support and in some cases the general disregard of law is the greatest single danger to the political and social life of America today."

Other wives of cabinet members who have strongly indorsed the purposes of the enforcement congress are Mrs. Charles Evan Hughes, Mrs. Hubert Work, Mrs. James J. Davis, Mrs. Henry C. Wallace, and Mrs. John W. Weeks, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., wife of the assistant secretary of the navy and Mrs. Frederick H. Gillett, wife of the speaker of the house, have also endorsed the movement.

Greeting Sent By U. W. to Eliot of Harvard

This university was one of many institutions to send President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot, of Harvard university, a letter of greeting on his 90th birthday. The letter was as follows:

"We congratulate you upon living to see the fulfillment of the revolution in which you began to play a leading part half a century ago.

"You found higher education in America discredited and unpopular because of the narrowness of its objective and the stubborn conservatism of its personnel. You met that stubbornness with an equal tenacity, and we regard with admiration the courage and persistence of your fight to win for education in America its proper place in the service of democracy.

"You broadened its scope to the outlines of your prophetic vision, you reached out a friendly hand to the younger sciences and lifted them to the position which they should occupy in modern life. You conserved the tradition of the humanities without making an idol of the classics. You reshaped the aims and methods of professional education, making learned professions out of what had too often been only trades. You found men and gave them opportunity.

"No other American has borne so much of the conflict, or has shaped its outcome with broader vision. We are and shall long continue to be the beneficiaries of your labors; and whatever changes time may bring in the conception of the details of education your program will remain inclusive and fundamental."

KAUKAUNA—At a meeting of the Kaukauna Live Stock Shipping association it was voted unanimously by the 130 members present to inaugurate a stock fair to be held one day each month throughout the year in this city.

'Little Green House' Where Daugherty and Smith Met

The "Little Green House" as it is today. Inserted are Paul Howland, above, and George E. Chamberlain, former senator from Oregon, attorneys for Daugherty.

This modest little vine covered green house on K street, Washington, could make startling revelations if it could speak, according to the testimony before the senate committee investigating the acts and conduct of Attorney General Daugherty. Miss Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of Jess Smith, has told the committee that Smith, Daugherty's close friend and confidant, told her that he and Daugherty met there frequently to "discuss their deals." Miss Stinson said that Smith who acted as Daugherty's "bumper," never acted without first consulting the attorney general. Paul Howland, former congressman from Ohio, and George E. Chambertain, former senator from Oregon, are defending Daugherty.

Directory Is Made for Home Study Courses

Teachers in Wisconsin schools who wish to take home study will be interested in a directory of these courses, the first of its kind ever prepared, which has just been issued by the Extension division.

The directory, although it includes information that applies to special requirements of individuals, was designed chiefly for the groups of teachers who have not completed a normal school course and desire correspondence-study instruction suitable for credit in the state normal schools; those who are state normal school graduates and desire courses for credit toward a university degree; those whose normal school course did not include all studies required to admit them to full junior standing at the university; those who lack full entrance requirements to the university; and those who need special preparation to meet new teaching requirements.

An "index to opportunities" is given to the beginning of the directory, so that teachers may find out what work they can take to fit their requirements.

Teachers who wish special information not contained in the directory may receive it from district offices in Milwaukee, Oshkosh, Superior, Wausau, Eau Claire and Madison.

N. O. L. Tryouts are Set Here for April 4

The honor of representing Wisconsin in the Northern Oratorical league and a prize of $25 will be awarded to the person selected at the final tryouts to be held as an open meeting on April 4. Intercollegiate debaters are eligible without a preliminary tryout. Winners of the tryouts held February 19 and 20 who will speak at this meeting are William L. Olson '26, Harold A. Cranefield '25, Melville Bright '25, Harold Jordan '25, and Hazel Weingandt '25. The committee which will serve as judges is made up of Prof. A. T. Weaver, of the department of speech, Prof. R. M West, Prof. John Barnes, and Wayne Morse rad. The speakers will talk on subjects selected and written up by themselves.

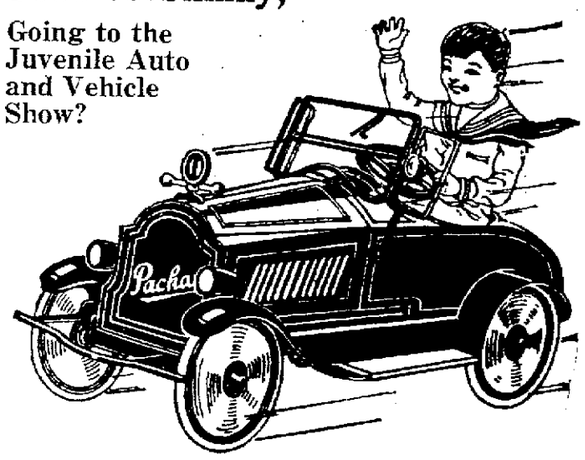

Brown and White Is Favorite Paris Color

Brown and white is a color duet that Paris correspondents say is most popular there, especially for evening wear. White satin evening gowns and coats are banded with brown fur, or brown lace. Striped tub silk blouses come in chocolate and creamy white. Several spring silks are patterned in brown and white.

WEYAUWEGA—A woman's auxiliary to the Weyauwega American Legion post has been organized. Mrs. H. G. Peterson is president and Mrs. G. Y. Claassen secretary.

Third Degree Yourself

A normal person about nine years old or older should be able to complete with few mistakes the following mental tests.

Try this test on yourself before you give it to your son or daughter, brother or sister.

Simply ask the person to be tested the following questions or have him do the following tests, being sure that he understands what you want him to do before you conclude that he cannot complete the test:

1: "What day of the week, what month, what day of the month and what year is today?"
2: "How many ounces in a pound? How many pints in a quart?"
3: "Suppose you went to the store and spent four cents out of a ten-cent piece. How much change should you get?" Similarly, twelve cents out of fifteen cents; four cents out of twenty-five cents.
4: "Repeat the following four figures backward: 6-5-2-8; 4-9-3-7; 8-6-2-9."
5: "Use the following three words all in the same sentence: Boy, river, ball. Also use the following words in a sentence: Work, money, men."
6: "Give three words that rhyme with each of the following words: Day; mill and spring."

No Agreement Reached by Unions and Contractors

No action has been taken by the labor unions or the Master Builders' association to sign new wage contracts. The present agreement expire Apr. 1 and must be renewed before that time.

The master builders will meet Wednesday night to hear reports of the various crafts in regard to their negotiations with the unions.

Refuses to Give Opinion In Election Law Case

The attorney general's department today declined to give an opinion to Dist. Atty. S. G. Dunwiddie of Janesville, on the result of violation of state election laws by town supervisors and chairmen in forthcoming elections.

In answer to several inquiries, Asst. Atty. Gen. Bump declared that town supervisors and chairmen are not authorized to act as election inspectors if they are candidates for office in the election. The district attorney further asked what effect the election would have if a town supervisor or chairman did act as inspector in an election in which he was a candidate and if such action would make the election of other officers void. On these questions, the assistant attorney general said it is not the policy of the office to give opinions on the outcome of violations of state laws.

Secret of Keeping Young

Why is it that some women look older at thirty-five than others do at fifty? Why is it that so many women are always run-down, weak, pale, nervous, irritable and unhappy? Health, vitality and freedom from pain and disease alone can prevent the signs of age from fastening themselves upon us. All over this country women are awakening to the fact that the ills and pains of women may be relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and that it brings renewed life, energy and the joy of health. In fact, the secret of keeping young is to ward off internal ailments that cause premature old age, which is best accomplished by this remarkable herb and herb remedy.—Adv.

"How Does She Find Time"?

"Here's that new Mrs. Brown getting onto the car—going to club meeting. Now how does she find time to do so many things? She keeps herself and her two youngsters looking spic and span, and her house's as neat as a pin—and she doesn't keep a maid, either!"

"Well, I think she uses her head," said Mrs. Graham. "For one thing, I saw her putting the two kiddies on the street car this morning to go to her sister's out on Johnson street."

"All alone?"

"Yes, she often sends them out. She tells the conductor where they are to get off, and her sister meets them. Then she's free to do her work. Why, a friend of mine sends her little girl to school every morning on the car. It's a great help."

GALSWORTHY STORY BASIS OF FILM

"The Stranger," Joseph Henabery's favorite short story, is the finest picture he has ever brought to the screen. From the first day he read the story, which the author, John Galsworthy, called "The First and the Last," Mr. Henabery wanted to put it into picture form, and here it is. The additional features are the "Snub" Pollard comedy, "The Walkout," and a new organ songologue.

ISLE OF MAN BACKGROUND OF HALL CAINE STORY

Starting today for four days the Strand will show as their feature attraction Sir Hall Caine's "Name The Man" taken from "The Master Of Man".

The entire story takes place on the Isle of Man where the action of nearly every novel that Sir Hall Caine has written, is placed, and deals with the youthful Deemster, or judge, of the island and the great suffering and remorse which he endured. The added features are a Felix Cat Comedy and latest news reel.

PLENTY OF ACTION IN "ADAM AND EVA"

Opening in the Long Island home of Mr. King and closing in the old King farm in New Jersey three months later the play Adam and Eva at the Orpheum this week offers more action in three months than the average two plays. It is a satire on the ways of the upper set of Long Island rich but in no way does it offend. The subject is handled in a way that makes one like it whether he believes that way or not. Bargain matinee will be given on today and Saturday at 2:30. "Smiling Through" will be given starting Sunday.

Calls Mrs. Hale Versatile; Is Here Thursday

Actress Who Speaks Here Tomorrow Praised On Campus

Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale who will speak on "The Modern Stage and The Rising Generation" at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening at Music hall has received many favorable comments from campus people.

"She is very versatile" is the comment made of Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale by Laurens Hastings '24, president of Wisconsin Players. Mrs. Hale was guest of honor at a banquet given by the organization some time ago and members were enthusiastic in their comments of her.

"Mrs. Hale writes, she is up on politics, especially English politics, and is interested in the woman's movement. And of course she has interest in the stage. She is active in all current affairs. During the war she worked with Herbert Hoover on the food conservation commission. At that time she lectured throughout the west," Hastings said in giving his impression of her.

So few had the opportunity of hearing Mrs. Hale at her last appearance here which was under the auspices of the Madison Civics club that Theta Sigma Phi, woman's honorary journalistic sorority, undertook to bring her to the university.

Though an Englishwoman by birth Beatrice Hale has concerned herself much more with American life than that of England. She is vitally interested in American home life, the flapper, and the modern woman.

Being the daughter of Ian Forbes-Robertson, the niece of Sir Johnson Forbes-Robertson, and the grandniece of John Forbes-Robertson, Mrs. Hale is naturally drawn toward the drama in addition to her other interests. She began her stage career when she was 17, and since then she has appeared with such actors as her illustrious uncle, Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, Sir Herbert Tree and Ellen Terry. For three seasons she was with Charles Frohman and the New Theater company.

What does CLIMALENE do besides Soften Water?

PERHAPS you have thought of Climalene as just a superior water softener. But Climalene is a cleanser as well. Climalene makes the hardest water soft as summer rain—and as harmless. It adds active cleansing power too.

That is why, in the kitchen, it is efficient for such different uses as the cleaning of your cut glass and silver on the one hand; for your pots and pans, sink and stove, floor and walls on the other.

There are dozens of uses for Climalene. Wherever soft water mildness with the greatest possible cleansing efficiency are needed, use Climalene.

Sold by all grocers in 12 oz. and 2 lb. packages.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

(Copyright, 1924 by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY'S GOAT

The bad old Bob Cat, with his silly little tail, sat in the den of the Woozie Wolf, laughing at him and at the Fuzzy Fox, who was also there.

"Ha! Ha!" chuckled the Bob Cat. "What's so funny?" growled the Wolf.

"To think of you two chaps trying to catch Uncle Wiggily by taking his shoes, and then expecting him to come here to your den to get them back!" laughed the Bob Cat. "That's what's so funny!"

"Was it any funnier than when you went in to nibble his ears and went away with only some bread and sugar?" asked the Fox.

"Of course it was!" giggled the Bob Cat. "I got some bread and sugar. All you chaps got was a tickle in the ribs from the club of the Police Dog. Listen, you didn't do it right!"

"What should we have done?" asked the Wolf.

"Instead of taking Uncle Wiggily's shoes you should have taken his trousers or his hat," spoke the Bob Cat. "You might know he wouldn't come out in the snow in wet shoes to look for a dry pair. A hat or a pair of trousers is different."

"Suppose you try to get Uncle Wiggily here to my den, if you are so smart," growled the Wolf. "We'll leave it to you to play a trick on that rabbit."

"Yes," agreed the Fox. "And if Uncle Wiggily comes here to the Wolf's den, to get back something you take away from his hollow stump bungalow, we'll give you some nibbles off his ears."

"I'll do it," promised the Bob Cat.

Over the fields and through the woods he ran with his silly little tail, until he reached the hollow stump bungalow of the rabbit gentleman. As it happened, Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane were out, so the Bob Cat slipped in and took one of Uncle Wiggily's coats.

In its place he left a note which said:

"Come to the den of the Wolf and get your coat. Yours sincerely, we love you dearly."

"I'll sign it that way instead of with a name," the Bob Cat whispered to himself as he hurried out of the bungalow with the rabbit gentleman's coat.

Now, as it happened, Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy reached home first that day. The muskrat lady housekeeper hurried into the bungalow and saw the Bob Cat's note in place of Uncle Wiggily's coat.

"The very idea," squeaked Nurse Jane. "I'll go o the Wolf's den myself and get that coat back! The idea! Um!"

But before she went out she wrote another note for Uncle Wiggily, pinning it to the one the Bob Cat had left.

"Dear Wiggily," wrote Nurse Jane, "I have gone to the Wolf's den, all by myself, to get your coat back."

You can imagine how surprised Wiggily was when he hopped into his hollow stump bungalow and read the two notes.

"Ha! So those bad chaps are up to their tricks again!" cried the rabbit gentleman. "But the worst of it is Nurse Jane has gone to the Wolf's den! And without a Police Dog! I would much rather lose a dozen coats than have her ears nibbled! I must save her"

Not stopping, even to twinkle his pink nose, Uncle Wiggily hopped over the fields and through the woods, until he reached the den of the Woozie Wolf. Pausing outside for a moment, the rabbit gentleman listened to voices inside.

He hurried out of the bungalow.

"Have you Uncle Wiggily's coat here?" he heard Nurse Jane ask.

"Indeed, we have, my dear Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, spoke the Fox in an oily voice and as sweet as molasses.

"Here it is," went on the Bob Cat. "But we can't give it up to any one but Uncle Wiggily himself. Tell him to come and—"

"Here I am now!" cried the brave rabbit gentleman, leaping into the dark and dismal den.

"Oh!" howled the Wolf.

"Oh! Oh!" howled the Fox.

"Oh! Oh! Oh!" howled the Bob Cat.

Then the three bad chaps looked hungrily at the bunny's ears. But Uncle Wiggily wasn't afraid. He had a trick in his mind.

"Where is my coat?" he asked.

"Here," answered the Bob Cat, holding it up.

The rabbit gentleman looked down inside one sleeve and pretended to see something in it, though really nothing was there.

"What have you put in my sleeve?" he asked.

"Why nothing at all," exclaimed the surprised Bob Cat, and he thrust one paw into a sleeve of the rabbit's coat to show that nothing was there.

"What's in the other sleeve?" asked the bunny.

"Nothing at all," said the Fox, and he put one paw in the second sleeve to show that it was empty.

But no sooner did the Fox and Bob Cat have their paws in the sleeves of his coat than Uncle Wiggily gave the Wolf a push, sending him over backward. The Wolf fell against the Bob Cat and Fox. And as these two bad chaps were tangled up in the coat, with their paws in the sleeves, where they couldnt get them out, all three went down together in a heap on the floor of the den, all mixed up.

"Come on Nurse Jane! Never mind my coat; it was an old one that I was going to throw away," cried the bunny. "Let's run."

And out of the wolf's den they ran, safe and sound, before the bad chaps could untangle themselves from the bunny's old coat.

So everything came out all right, and no ears were nibbled, and if the front steps will only stop dancing long enough for the milkman to crawl up them and paste a postage stamp on the door knob, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the runaways.

Mrs. Thompson's Advice

SHOULD SHE MARRY FOR RICHES?

Woman Courted By Farmer, 33, And By Wealthy Man 50 Years Old; Is In Doubt

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a woman 27 years old and have been keeping company with a man 33 years old for about a year. I have known him all my life. He is a church member and well thought of in the neighborhood, is starting out for himself on a farm and wants me to marry him.

About six months ago I went visiting to another city and met a man about 50 years of age who is worth about fifty thousand dollars. He seems like a very nice man, but does not belong to church nor does he like to go with me. I am a church member and love to go to church.

Do you think I would be happy if I married the older man? He says he is never going to get old. He doesn't look nor act old now. My parents want me to marry him so that I won't have to work hard like they did.

I like both of these men and can't decide which one I like better. The older man knows I am keeping company with the younger man, but the younger man doesn't know about the older man. Should I tell him? I am afraid he will get angry and think I am after his money. Do you think I am?

Some tell me not to marry a man who isn't a Christian. What do you think?

UNDECIDED.

It is difficult to advise you regarding your choice of a husband, because you and you alone can decide which of the two men is dearer to your heart. To marry for money would be most unwise, but to marry for love when the man has money would be quite delightful. If, however, you really care for the younger man, you could never be happy if you gave him up in order to better your own circumstances. Money is an uncertain quantity in marriage, while real love and congeniality can be depended upon to bring happiness. In my opinion there are many very good people who do not attend church, and unfortunately many hypocrites who do. The hypocrites have been to blame for turning many people away from churches.

RELIGION OBJECTION

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 21 years of age and in love with a fellow two years my senior. I know he loves me because he tells me he does and always talks of marriage, but there is one thing that keeps me in doubt and that is his religion. My mother is very opposed to our marriage. I feel that she shouldn't try to separate us. Please give me your advice.

LITTLE SUE.

A difference in religion makes the question of marriage very grave. Your love for each other would have to be so great that you would refrain from arguing on the question of religion; one would have to give in to the other in the matter of religious education of the minor children; and the opposition of the "in-laws" would have to be considered. I can only advise you to think the matter over very carefully before you make your decision. There are cases where a man and wife of different religion are happy together, but on the other hand there are many cases where they are utterly miserable. You and you alone can decide the matter.

Exams Scheduled to Begin On Tuesday

Mid-semester examinations for the second semester will be held March 25 to April 7.

No course is compelled to give a mid-semester examination. A choice in methods for determining the mid-semester reports is given to instructors. Either frequent written quizzes may be held throughout the semester, a single mid-semester examination may be given, or both methods may be employed.

For freshmen, especially in the elementary subjects, the committee on freshmen recommends frequent written tests throughout the semester rather than a single mid-semester examination.

Final reports on mid-semester standings are due in the dean's office April 8.

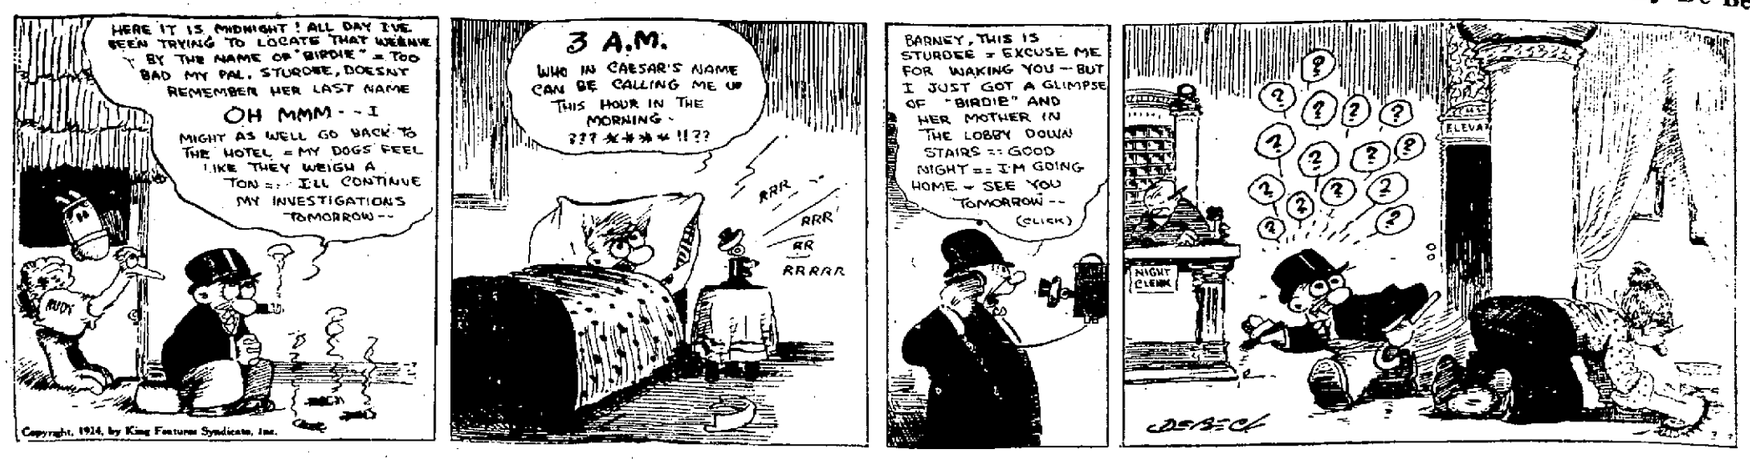

Two and five-credit subjects will hold their examinations March 25 to March 31, according to the schedule, and three and five-credit subjects during the week following, April 1 to 7.

Examinations for the removal of conditions will be held Saturday, April 19.

IRON BELT—The girls of the freshman class of the Iron Belt school presented a play, "By the Way of the Secret Passage." Miss Doris Rounesville was the director.

THE STORY OF COLUMBUS

Part VI.—Columbus Returns to Spain.

Southeast of Florida is a group of about 600 islands. They are called the Bahamas. Most of them are so small they are seldom shown on maps.

As you know, the island Columbus first reached was one of the Bahamas. He tried to get go there, but the Indians had only little. They gave what they had trade for glass beads, bright c and even the worthless hoops barrels.

Columbus was not satisfied. H ordered the ships to cruise aroun them. They found island after i land. On many of them were people, "Indians" as the Spaniards called them .

The chief islands discovered were Cuba and Haiti. Columbus did not know Cuba was an island. He thought it was part of "the mainland of Asia."

From time to time, Indians paddled up to the Spanish ships to talk and trade. The chief thing they had to give was cotton yarn, I am glad to say Columbus treated them kindly for the most part; but he seized about a dozen of them to take back to Spain.

Three months were spent cruising among the islands. Then Columbus decided to sail back to Spain. He had only two ships now, for one had been wrecked.

Some of the seamen saved from the wreck asked to be left on one of the islands, until Columbus went to Spain and came back again. The admiral gave his consent. A little fort was built and the men placed there were told to keep good order.

The return to Spain was made during stormy weather. The two ships became separated. During one fierce gale Columbus feared he would be wrecked. Hoping to save his secret from the waves, he wrote the story of his voyage, placed it in a small barrel, and cast the barrel into the sea.

Luckily the ship was not sunk. It landed first at Lisbon, Portugal, where the king treated Columbus with honor.

Before long, the vessel left Lisbon and anchored in Palos, Spain, on Friday, March 15, 1492, more than eight months after he had left that port. The second ship arrived a few hours later.

Bells were rung, and the whole town rejoiced. It was as if the sailors had "come back from the dead."

Findlay Is Author

Paul Findlay, Former Madison Grocer, Writes Handbook For Merchants

Paul Findlay, former Madison merchant, is the author of "Paul Findlay's Book for Grocers," just off the press, copies of which have been received here.

Mr. Findlay was connected with the Findlay Bros. grocery store, which was at one time located where Hook Bros. music store is now situated at State and Mifflin sts. He left the city ten or more years ago and is now associated with the Honig-Cooper Co., San Francisco, Chicago, and New York, a large advertising concern.

The book covers the fundamental principles of retailing in simple wordsa nd compact space. The charts which accompany the volume enable merchants to apply these principles without going through the risky and tedious task of figuring everything in detail.

Beet Relish — Crop cold cooked beets to make one cup. Add three tablespoons grated horseradish, two tablespoons lemon juice, two teaspoons powdered sugar, one teaspoon salt.

Orange Pudding — Take grated rind and juice of one orange, one-half cup sugar, two eggs, one-half cup cracker crumbs, one quart milk. Bake like custard and serve cold.

Breakfast Cereal — The whole wheat grains are soaked in cold water for twenty-four hours, then cooked over night in a double boiler. When a cream soup forms the main dish of a meal add a beaten egg just before serving.

Orange Marmalade— Take three oranges, one lemon, remove seeds. Put through meat chopper. Add eleven cups cold water and let stand twenty-four hours, then boil for one and one-half hours. Remove from fire, add four pounds granulated sugar and let stand again twenty-four hours. Now boil until thick, about one and one-half or two hours.

Orange and Rhubarb Marmalade —Peel the thin yellow rind from one-half dozen oranges, and cut into thin shreds. Remove all white pith and slice pulps. Cut into small pieces two pounds of rhubarb. Put the orange peel and rhubarb into preserving kettle together with two pounds of sugar. Cook gently, and occasionally stir until reduced to the desired consistency. Turn into jars, but leave uncovered until the following day. Cover and make tight. This is excellent, inexpensive and keeps well. This recipe may be made with canned rhubarb or filed for spring canning season.

Miss McCarthy will give readings from literature on March 28. Mr. Witte will talk on "The Problem of Legislative Salaries" March 24. The university radiophone press bulletin will be given at the same time.

The Tenth Year

By LAIN CLANE

CHAPTER LVII

Evelyn strolled joyfully on deck, impatiently awaiting the bugle call for luncheon. It was the third day out. She was lustily hungry. Perhaps her appetite was given a keener edge by knowledge that Cousin Mamie was in their stateroom below, overcome by the indecision of the waves.

With cheeks set abloom by the choppy breezes assailing the vessel from the north, and her hair gracefully askew under her crumpled sport hat, she was a pretty picture, and she was conscious of being the subject of interested glances now and then from the men who jauntily patrolled the deck.

She wished they would speak to her.

A reticent aloofness, something which seemed suddenly to come to the surface of her, had kept Evelyn from making any of the rapid shipboard acquaintances every one else seemed to have acquired. In two days Mamie had achieved speaking terms with a score of passengers, but few of whom she knew by name. This shyness, for that is what it really was, had forced a self-consciousness upon Evelyn so that she avoided the merry groups that formed here and there for deck games, for chatter and quickly familiar banter.

The loneliness, the homesickness, that seized her the first day, had subsided, but still her thoughts continued to creep back to home, to Fred, to Violet—and, sometimes, to Ellison. She upbraided herself for what she looked upon as a weakness.

Breakfast, luncheon, dinner—these had become the most important parts of the daily schedule to her. Then she was free to gaze about her and match glances with women at adjoining tables; only in the dining-room did she ever lose consciousness of that vague, homesick feeling.

She liked to hear the chatter of the two men at her table.

She went to dinner with Mamie the first evening excited about whom they would have as companions. They immediately felt at ease when, after they were seated, one of the pair addressed them:

"I do not know what the etiquette of such occasions is," he smiled, "but since we are going to be dinner companions, I think we ought to introduce ourselves. My name is Brown. This is Mr. Sims—not the Mr. Addison Sims of Seattle."

Mamie giggled. Then she mumbled an introduction, eyeing with approval Mr. Sims. He was young and his sandy hair was a mass of waves. There was a sophisticated air about him. Mr. Brown was older. She did not like him because from his breast pocket protruded a sundry collection of silver-cased patent pencils and a fountain pen, and because there was a gaudy stickpin in his necktie.

The conversation that passed casually between these men at the table, particularly after Evelyn appeared alone, would have impressed others more sophisticated than she as affectedly produced for the edification and entertainment of listeners. Impressive talk of world adventures ran through their remarks. Without being attracted to either of them, Evelyn was impressed by their poise, and each time she came to the table expectantly with a feeling of belonging to the exclusive circle; she felt she was entering the proud little world of the cosmopolites.

She was absorbing gestures, attitudes, pronunciations, viewpoints, sophistries. She felt herself changing; it occured to her that her education had just begun.

Such was the effect of this affected table talk upon her.

Inexplicably, as she left the table that evening, she was filled with an ominous intuition that caused her to rush to her stateroom.

Last Game In Ind. League Is Played Tonight

Forward Club Meets Company G at City Y. M. C. A.

The final game in the Madison Industrial basketball league will be played at the city 'Y' tonight between Forward Club and Company 'G' teams it was announced Tuesday night at a meeting of the board of directors of the league. This is a postponed game.

April 9 will see all members of the league at a get-together in the 'Y' banquet rooms at which time a supper will be served and trophies and medals presented the winners. The Ray-O-Lite team won first place in the league. At the session April 9, plans will also be discussed for the coming summer.

Edgerton Wins Janesville Y. M. C. A. Cage Title

JANESVILLE—The district basketball championship of Rock, Green and Jefferson counties was won by Edgerton's American Legion basketball team here in defeating Co. K, Monroe, 30 to 20, Tuesday.

Madden, with five goals, starred for Edgerton, while O'Connor and Ruff led in scoring for Monroe.

Gold medals were awarded members of the Edgerton team by the Janesville Y. M. C. A., under whose auspices the tournament was conducted. Edgerton will represent this district at Madison in the state tournament.

Ernie Vick, Wolverine Star Joins The Cards

ST. LOUIS—Ernie Vick, catcher with the Houston, Texas, league club last year, and former University of Michigan football star, will don the Cardinal uniform this season, according to Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, it was learned here on Tuesday.

With this announcement comes word that Harry Mc Curdy, Clyde Bifoot and Johnny Kane, who trained with the Cardinals this spring, will go to Houston.

A scheduled exhibition game between the Cardinals and Chicago-Americans was called off owing to a heavy rain.

Juniors Trim Frosh In Co-ed Basketball

In the first game of the Co-ed inter-class baseball tournament yesterday, the juniors swamped the freshmen by a score of 14 to 4. The juniors were never once threatened during the entire game, although the frosh held them to two runs in the first inning.

Real team work was displayed by both sides in the first two innings, but in the third the juniors started a battling rally, netting them 14 runs, which stampeded the frosh. In spite of this fact, the frosh showed good spirit and with this first experience to their credit, should prove good opposition.

Bad Weather Causes Quiet Day In Camps

Bad Luck Hits Several Major Club; Ruth Loses $1000

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO—Rain ruled operations in the major league training camps yesterday, causing cancellation of exhibition tilts and curtailing practice sessions. Prospect for today show little relief and several teams expect inactivity until the week-end.

Yesterday's scheduled games between the Chicago Americans and St. Louis Nationals and the Washington Americans and Boston Nationals were cancelled because of downpours and Cincinnati's game with the Cleveland Americans today is likely to be called off.

Babe Loses $1,000

Bad luck, in various forms, hit several camps yesterday. Babe Ruth lost one of four $1,000 bills he was carrying to a bank from his hotel room in New Orleans. Rube Lutzke, Cleveland Indians' third baseman contracted a slight attack of blood poisoning from a blister on his foot. Pat Collins, St. Louis American's catcher split his left thumb and dislocated the joint, Syl Simon of the same squad was struck on the head by a ball and Ed Cutting sprained his ankle.

Select Pitchers

The Detroit Americans selected the pitching list which will bear the burden of the early season. Included are Dauss, Cole, Johnson, Holloway, Whitehill and Stoner, with Pillette in reserve.

The Detroit, Philadelphia American regulars beat the Yannigans 7 to 6 with a ninth inning rally. Rain, mud or cold, prevented or shortened sessions of the Chicago Cubs, New York Giants, Brooklyn Robins, and Boston Americans.

Oarsmen May Take Exams In Boathouse

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., March 15.—Because of the early date of the regatta which will be rowed here on June 17, two weeks in advance of any previous date, the majority of the college oarsmen may take June examinations at the boathouses along the Hudson, according to an announcement by William F. Frank Sr., chairman of the local regatta committee.

The Pennsylvania crews are scheduled to arrive here on May 24, with thirty-six oarsmen and a staff of professors to hear the men recite their lessons when they are not rowing on the river.

It is expected that Cornell, Syracuse, Columbia, Washington, and Wisconsin will do the same.

River Falls May Not Enter State Tourney

RIVER FALLS, Wis.—A protest over the eligibility of a player on the River Falls quint has held up the medal award in the district high school basketball tournament held here last week.

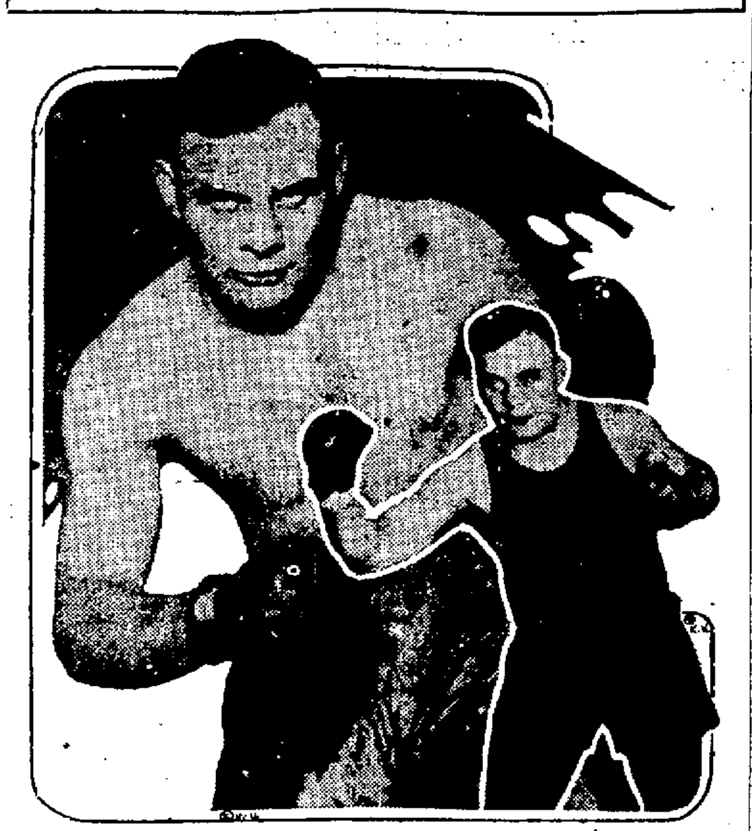

River Falls won the championship, Elmwood was second, Spring Valley third and Menomonie, New Richmond, Colfax, Baldwin and Roberts trailed.

The matter of eligibility is to be decided by the state interscholastic board. If River Falls is barred, Elmwood will represent the district in the state tourney at Madison the latter part of this week.

Northwestern 'U' Protests Referee's Decision In Meet

EVANSTON—Northwestern university has filed a formal protest against a decision rendered by Referee Charles A. Dean which disqualified the Purple team in the relay event of the conference swimming championships, which were held at Patten gym last Friday night, it was announced Monday by Dr. O. F. Long, chairman of the faculty committee.

Has Johnson Learned to Hit?

Two glimpses of Floyd Johnson.

A year or two ago Floyd Johnson, Iowa heavyweight, flashed across the fistic horizon like a meteor. He knocked third raters right and left with lefts and rights. Then he met Bill Brennan and Jess Willard and got smacked both times. These fights showed that he lacked the one prime requisite of a heavyweight—the ability to hit hard and accurately. The other night he knocked out one Jack Douglas in one round in New York. The blow that turned the trick was a short, lightning right to the jaw. Apparently Johnson has learned to hit. Can he come back after his beatings from Willard and Brennan?

ROUNDY SAYS

The Gyro Club Sure Gave The Team A Rousing Time At The Dinner Last Night

The Gyro club sure did themselves proud last night when they gave the Wisconsin basketball team and the freshmen a banquet and also saw that they attended the Orph. The trainers and the managers were also there. It was a swell night, I'll shout.

The Gyro club gave a fine feed and had a fine entertainment billed for the boys and the team and Meanwell sure enjoyed it. The Gyro club also stages this stuff every year for the football and basketball teams. It is a live, hustling order of young business men with that old get up in their make up. And from the talk the different members of the team told me they sure were plenty thankful for the blowout. They enjoyed it to the last minute.

Dr. Arnold Jackson was toastmaster and he was right up on his stuff all the time. While Ferguson was there plenty strong leading the yells and songs.

Three rousing speeches were made by Meanwell, Glenn Stephenson and Al Buser. They were corkers and they sure made a hit with the crowd. Roundy also talked, but not in a way to call it rousing.

I see by the paper where the Wisconsin track team will take a two weeks' rest. They must be all tired out trying to get those 2½ points.

When Neff had the Yanks tied to a fence post last year in the world series you remember he blew up in eigthth and walked five men in a row. McGraw figured that a fast ball pitcher sent in for Neff would have won the game. Scott was the man with the fast ball. But Scott was not even on the bench. He was out on an all night celebration and never came to his room till 9 in the morning. That is the reason McGraw fired Scott this winter, a wonderful pitcher.

McGraw has Marsans, the Cuban, coach some base runners this year. He is not hired to coach them all. But to work on Frisch and Young only who have resisted all others to teach them the art of sliding. McGraw as told them in a cold turkey way to take orders of Marsans on sliding into the bags. They wouldn't listen to other coaches at all but in Marsans they are listening to a past master on base sliding.

The writer will go to Monroe this Friday sure. Last Friday that special train and the busses leaving was all bunk. I've got to be at the "Y" and two other places on this Friday night. I cast all aside to visit Monroe and get a crack at that famous Swiss cheese that has made Green county famous. After I get a mouthful of that then I'm off for the basketball game.

I guess Leo Tester was in there in those singles at Chicago with a big 658 count and that is real bowling, folks. Ted Soehle sure was going great guns in the doubles. Got 617, and if Post his partner was on, they would have got over 1200 easy. Ed Koch and Larry Hummel in the doubles got 1242 sticks, classy bowling, and Koch hits the wood for 665. All class folks, all class.

CHICAGO — With the American Bowling Congress tournament entering its final week tomorrow, Chicago's chances for leadership in the five-men team event are considered remote. The Mineralites, upon whom Chicago fans placed their hopes of winning the event, were able to total 3041 in yesterday's competition, taking second place.

Before the close of the week changes are expected in the leading teams in each event with the exception of the singles, led by Kair, Chicago, with 732 total, a world's record.

Chicagoans are in the majority in today's entries in the singles and doubles, in which teams will roll from Great Lakes, Lake Forest, Libertyville, Springfield and Waukegan, Ills.; Toledo, Akron, and Elyria, Ohio; Milwaukee and Kenosha, Wis.; Atlanta, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla.; Oklahoma City, Okla., and Iron River, Michigan

Oregon Meets Rice Lake Quint In Opener; Coach Meanwell Directs Draw

Badger Quint Is Entertained By Gyro Club

Coach Meanwell Gives Praise to 1924 Team

'Doc' Meanwell and his gang of fighting Badgers and freshmen basketeers were guests of the Gyro club at a banquet in the Park Hotel Tuesday night, and the Cardinal cagers had impressed upon their minds quite vividly the fact that Madison business men are behind athletics at Wisconsin.

Coach Meanwell, the chief speaker on the program told of the development of the team and praised each individual for his efforts. 'Doc' also compared the records of the Wisconsin quintet with those of other teams in the conference. He pointed out that the Badger quintet played every team that was on top of the heap this season.

Glenn Stephens, local attorney and member of the Gyro club gave a talk on "Wisconsin Spirit."

Other speakers were members of the squad and 'Roundy', sporting writer for The Capital Times. Following the banquet the team members were guests of the Dorothy La Verne players at the Orpheum theater.

Johnny Meyers Meets Parelli at Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE—Johnny Meyers, holder of the worlds middleweight wrestling championship, will defend the title in a finish match with Joe Parelli, the famous Italian grappler, at the Auditorium on the night of March 25, it was announced on Tuesday by Joseph Grieb.

The Championship match will be supported by a great array of preliminary contests. Hans Steinke, the German colossus, will appear on the card, as will Theodor Stejke, the Polish heavyweight and one of the latest aspirants to the world's title.

Meanwell Praises Frosh Basket Squad

"Doc" Meanwell, varsity basketball coach, witnessed the final frosh scrimmage this afternoon, and at the close of the session gave the men a few words of advice and praise. In his talk he stressed the importance of keeping up in their studies because "Ineligibility has ruined many a promising team." He thanked the men for the help they had been to the varsity, and added that the 1927 squad was one of the best developed by George Levis, freshman coach. His final statement was that he hoped to see every man out in answer to the first call for varsity material next fall.

After the talk the men attempted to select a captain but the election ended in a tie with the votes evenly divided between Brooks and Martell. As two members of the squad were absent the men will vote again next Monday when they meet at DeLonge's studio for the squad picture.

Class numerals will be awarded to Bain, Cramer, Dopp, Garten, Hargett, Martell, Miller, Otis, Stehr Brooks, Younge, Andrews, Cooley, Barnum, Hawley, Harris, Jones, McMasters, Seemann, and Shaw. Three of the managers will also receive numerals.

Princeton-Columbia Share Intercollegiate Honors

NEW YORK —Princeton and Columbia divided honors in the intercollegiate swimming and water polo in which a new inter-collegiate indoor record for the 440-yard swim was set by Hawkins, Princeton.

Janesville to Encounter Eagle River; Expect Tough Competition

Drawings were made yesterday afternoon to determine the schedule of games for the ninth annual state high school basketball tournament which will be played off March 26 to 29 in the University armory between the sixteen district champion quintets.

Draw for Place

Dr. Walter Meanwell, varsity basketball coach who is director of the state tournament, with Frank Nickerson, financial director and Norman Clark '24, general chairman, made the drawings in the office of Coach Meanwell.

FIRST GAMES

Rice Lake—Oregon.
Wisconsin Rapids—River Falls.
Wauwatosa—Superior.
Fond du Lac—Arcadia.
Marinette—La Crosse
Watertown—Manitowoc
Eagle River—Janesville
Appleton—Platteville

None of the Madison high schools will enter the tournament, due to the number of reverses which they suffered this year.

Not All Placed

The chairman of the entertainment committee announced last night that there are still six teams that have not been placed in fraternity houses. Fraternities wishing to entertain either four or eight men may receive assignments by calling Halley Porter F. 3266.

Basketball Chief to Be Picked Next Week

No election for the basket ball captaincy was held last night according to Gordon Walker, basketball manager.

The election had been slated to take place at the banquet given the team by the Madison Gyro club but due to the large crowd in attendance the balloting was postponed.

"The election will take place some time next week, a definite time has not yet been set," Walker said.

REPORT OF THE MARKETS

March 19, 1924.

Wheat Drops Sharply; Corn Also Weaker

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO—Sharp new breaks in the price of wheat took place today shortly after the market opened. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to ¼@? lower May 1.05½@1.05¾, July 1.06⅝@1.06¾ was followed by an irregular setback of nearly 1½ cents all around.

The decline carried the market to the lowest level since July 30, last, but then something of a rally ensued. The close was steady ¾ to ⅞@1c net lower, May 1.04⅝ to 1.04⅞ and July 1.05⅞.

CORN—Corn and oats weakened in sympathy with wheat, corn dropping to last week's inside figures. After opening ⅛ to ⅜ cents off, May 77¾ to 77⅞c corn fel to 77⅛c.

A little further sag to 77 cents for May was witnessed. Selling subsequently, however, lacked volume and the market recovered to some extent. The close was unsettled ¼ to ½c net lower, May 77⅝ to 77¾.

OATS—Oats started at 3.8 cents decline to ⅛c gain, May 47 to 47@47⅛ and later showed a moderate general setback.

PROVISIONS—Provisions were upheld by higher quotations on hogs.

Badgers Will Debate Michigan On Friday

Wisconsin's affirmative debating team will meet Michigan in the annual Mid-west debating league contest at 8 o'clock next Friday evening in Music hall.

The question for debate is, "Resolved that the drainage project of the Chicago Sanitary district in so far as it involves the divergnce from Lake Michigan of sufficient water to provide adequate sanitation for the city of Chicago should be permanently guaranteed." This question was discussed in the intercollegiate debating tryouts which were held last semester.

While the debate is bing held with Michigan the negative side will be upheld by Wisconsin against Illinois at Urbana.

Glen H. Bell '25 is the first speker on the Wisconsin negative team. Although this is Bell's first year of intercollegiate debating he has been active in forensics. Last year he was a member of the Athenae sophomore semi-public debating team. Next year he will represent Athenae in its joint debate with Philomathia. He is now president of Athenae.

The affirmative team is composed of Emanuel W. Goodban '25, Harold J. Sporer '25 and Henry W. Blake '24, closer.

Goodman, who opens the debate for Wisconsin against Michigan is a member of Athenae Literary society. This is his first year of debating at Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin teams which were selected last semester have been workig undr the direction of Prof. Andrew T. Weaver and Wayne Morse of the speech department.

Rev. M. H. Hegge, S. Turmo, R. M. Fjelstad, L. L. Nesvig, B. J. Larson and N. A. Stubkjar went to Lodi yesterday for attendance upon the Madison Circuit meeting of Lutheran pastors.

Odd Fellow Notes.

Stoughton Odd Fellows are planning a party for March 26 and the committee appointed to take charge are John Vanghagen, Erick Olman and Tollef Moen. It will be a Leap Year affair. On April 26 there will be banquet in connection with the Rebekahs.

The Door Creek school community club had a program last evening. Miss Mina Mortenson of the school is recovering from an attack of illness. Mr. and Mrs. Hans Lythjohan will remove to Madison in the near future. They have been tenants on the J. I. Williams place near the lake. Miss Nora Natvig has been ill.

The Stoughton orchestra of 12 pieces rendered fine music at the Orphans Home and the children joined in the singing, fairly raising the roof, according to the superintendent, Rev. N. A. Stubkjar.

High School Notes

A student council meeting was held Monday night. Plans were discussed pertaining to Milton Union-Stoughton forensic contest to be held Tuesday, March 25. It was voted to charge admission fee of 20 cents. The following committee chairmen were appointed: Entertainment, Ellida Willard; advertising and financial, Louis Thompson; decorating, Helen Oleson.

Out of town judges for this contest are Supt. E. O. Evans of Evansville; Principal J. E. Gressel, Oregon, and Arthur MacLean of Madison.

The Dramatic club held a banquet at the Mews Cafe Monday evening. After the dinner they left for the O. F. A. rooms, where games were played.

Frozen Tobacco

Says the Tobacco Bulletin—"The following statement is made for the welfare of the pool and its members. The prices at which the tobacco pool is offering the stemming and frozen tobacco is already known to the growers. Only one buyer has purchased any of this tobacco. There are only four large buyers of stemming tobacco to whom the pool can sell its low grades. In consequences there will probably be a good deal of stemming which will not sell readily. The officers of the pool want the growers to know that they are making and will continue to make every effort to sell stemming tobacco at prices quoted. Quite a number of farmers harvested frozen tobacco which has no value whatever for other than commercial or chemical purposes. The pool will make an effort to sell as much of this as possible, and at the best price obtainable. The price will probably be low, and the opportunity will be given to those who have that kind of tobacco to determine whether to haul it in or not.

Some buyers of stemming are operating on the outside. Last year when the pool had sold all stemming some buyers went on outside and paid more than figures at which pool had sold. This yar they pay less on outside than prices at which tobacco is being offered by pool. The buyers on outside refuse to take the badly frozen at any price."

Badger Guardsmen to Enter National Rifle Tournament

Wisconsin national guards will be represented in the national rifle meet at Camp Terry, Ohio, this year, according to an announcement today by Adjt. Gen. Ralph H. Immell. This will be the first time that the Badger state has been represented in the national competition since 1915, it is said.

There will be ten competitors and two alternates in addition to a team captain and team coach selected from the Wisconsin guards, officials stated. Details of the competition for the national meet are yet in preliminary stages but will be completed in the near future it is said.

Wisconsin first entered the national rifle meet in 1905, when it was held at Sea Girt, N. Y. From then until 1914, the Badger state was represented a majority of the years. Since the war, the meet has been held at Camp Terry but this state has not been represented.

Since the Badger guards have not been represented at the meet for a number of years, officials of the adjutant general's department declare that the competition this year will offer large opportunity for new competitors. Extensive preparations and training for the state team are expected to be made prior to the national meet which usually is held late in the fall

Claims Our Press Lacks Imagination of Spanish Writers

"To write and to be curious is the job of the journalist in Spain," said Prof. Joaquin Ortega of the Romance language department, formerly a newspaper man in Madrid, in an address before Press club last night.

Technique of newspaper writing is unknown to a Spanish journalist, according to Professor Ortega. The journalist knows how to write and uses imagination. Technique kills the imagination. The American press has a lack of imagination which tends to standardize that which should not be standardized.

"The newspaper profession in Spain is a romantic profession," continued Professor Ortega. "The difference between our newspapers and the American newspapers is a difference in the type of newspaper men. In Spain journalism is a stepping stone for something better in a literary line. Practically every well known novelist and playwright has worked on a newspaper in his youth."

Vias Boyle was elected vice president of Press club to succeed Harry Barsantee, who resigned. The date fixed for the annual Press club dance has been definitely set for April 19.

Don't Forget Palmer

THE Daugherty investigating committee should not be discharged until it has dug deeply into the record of A. Mitchell Palmer, Daugherty's predecessor, and given the country the benefit of what it learns.

REPRESENTATIVE Edward E. Browne of Wisconsin introduced a resolution in the House several years ago, under the Wilson administration, calling for an investigation of Attorney-General Palmer's failure to carry to the court of last resort a Government suit for the recovery of oil lands in California held by the Southern Pacific Railroad company.

Representative Browne proved to the House that the Southern Pacific had obtained these lands from the Government as grants, knowing that they were rich in oil and worth hundreds of millions of dollars. The law provided that no such lands should be included in general land grants to the railroads.

Conservationists pleaded with Palmer for months in an effort to induce him to prosecute this case. A lower court had decided in favor of the Southern Pacific. A similar case, however, was finally decided in favor of the Government. Attorney General Palmer was asked to appeal the Southern Pacific case to the Supreme court. After weeks of hesitation, while Representative Browne and other Progressives in Congress were clamoring for action, Palmer announced that no appeal would be taken and the Southern Pacific was given title in perpetuity to a large tract of the Government's oil resources.

The next day Southern Pacific stock broke all records in Wall Street with a sudden leap to a new "high". The Wall Street gamblers knew that Attorney General Palmer had served the Southern Pacific better than he had served the nation.

SINCE his retirement from office, Mitchell Palmer has enjoyed a lucrative law practice, one of his clients being E. B. McLean, central figure in the Teapot Dome and Daugherty scandals.

When called to the stand in the Teapot inquiry recently, Palmer admitted under oath that the lands he had turned over to the Southern Pacific were worth at least $421,000,000. In his defense for failing to appeal the case, he declared that "any lawyer" would agree it would have been a "waste of money" for the Government to carry the litigation to the Supreme court, the lower court having found against the Government as to the facts.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, who received his law training at the University of Wisconsin and who enjoys a reputation as a lawyer equalled by few men in the country promptly took issue with Palmer and flatly stated his opinion that the case should have been appealed.

It would be interesting to know whether Mr. Palmer numbers among his clients any of the railroad or oil corporations which profited so handsomely through his acts as Attorney-General.

It would be interesting to know whether Palmer used the same tactics as his successor, Daugherty, in raiding Senators' offices in an effort to "stop" troublesome investigations.

It would be interesting to know how great a part Big Business played in Palmer's notorious "red" raids which have since been condemned by Senators of his own party as violative of the constitutional rights of thousands of citizens and a disgrace to the country.

Let the Senate committee which is investigating Daugherty give the people these facts before it completes its work.

The Word "Radical"

WISCONSIN long ago learned the real meaning of the word "radical." As Congressman Joe Beck recently remarked in a speech at Washington, the people of Wisconsin are suspicious of any candidate who is not denounced by the Stalwart press as a "radical" and a "Bolshevist."

The country is beginning to learn, too. La Follette, the Republican "radical," was the first man in public life to demand an investigation of the oil lease frauds. Wheeler, the Democratic "radical," was the moving power behind the investigation of Attorney-General Daugherty. "Radicalism" will become synonymous with old-fashioned honesty if those who are loudest in denouncing the "radicals" continue to get caught.

Voice of the People

FROM PROGRESSIVE AGAIN

[To The Editor]—It pleased me very much that a man of E. E. Brindley's judgment concedes the election of Gov. Geo. F. Comings. Mr. Brindley is a man who would not waste his time bothering over the principles of a candidate who was not assured of the election.

Mr. Brindley is honest. He did not try to work in the wet and dry issue. The usual stunt of the conservatives is to play up the wet and dry issue, but Mr. Brindley is not a man of that nature.

The Campaigner, published by the organization with which William C. Dean, chairman of the prohibition party, is connected, is not quite as generous as Mr. Brindley. An editorial in that paper under the caption THAT WHICH MUST BE DEMONSTRATED is devoted to Gov. Geo. F. Comings. Since Mr. Dean whitewashed Merlin Hull on THAT WHICH WAS DEMONSTRATED, when Hull made those wet appointments, we take it that the editor is worrying along the same line as Mr. Brindley. The wet and dry issue is secondary, while the real issue is anti-progressive.

It reminds the writer that just before the Teapot Dome investigation, Washington politicians were fearfully scared and wanted everybody else to be fearfully scared because the reds were going to fly the red flag on the capitol dome. If we were back 10 years ago when it was demonstrated that wet appointments by conservatives is right and just a few years ago when marines could be used to chase out any but select grafters, why this world would be glorious.

But thank goodness, this world is not progressing backwards. The good old days will never come back. Wisconsin is taking the lead. Thanks to men of the Geo. F. Comings type, who never compromise, but who keep progressive causes progressing.

It is a credit to the people of Wisconsin that they can size up their champions. The progressives of Wisconsin have moved along quite a lot in the past few years. Wisconsin progressives have always picked men that were far in advance of other states. They drop a man, when he shows signs of lagging. The next election will show that they still are on the job and, as Mr. Brindley admits, Gov. Geo. F. Comings will be the answer.—A "Progressive" Progressive, Grantsburg, Wis.

ORTON PARK

[To The Editor]—In the early days of Madison a few pioneers selected a beautiful spot, near the shores of Lake Monona, for the last resting place of their friends.

This little cemetery, apart from the business of the town, with its native oaks, flowers and birds, and the murmuring from the lake, seemed a place for communion with Nature.

In later years it was thought best to make a change and to retain this cemetery for a city park only.

Here innocent children come to safely play; here both old and young, our friends and strangers from distant cities, the laborer and the pleasure-seeker, all may enter and find a few moments of rest from the stress of life.

Has the time come when some would take away from the people this safe, healthful retreat and convert it into a speedway?

Two blocks from Orton Park, Williamson street leads on across the Yahara river, affording traffic and tourists direct communication with the east side; and it is but a question of time when Spaight and Jenifer streets also will be improved to the river, thus opening two more roads to the east.

There are today, in America, eastern cities that still protect in the midst of their growth, little churchyard cemeteries, which were laid out in colonial days. Should not the citizens of Madison have like reverence for the past and forethought for the future? The present love for driving must not encroach too far upon the rights of the public.

We trust that Orton Park block may not be divided by a driveway where automobiles can intrude, but that it may be further beautified with trees and flowers, and that it may always be guarded by our citizens as a haven of safety and rest.—From a Taxpayer.

TRIES OUT THE NEWSPAPERS

[To The Editor]—Senator La Follette deserves election as president of the United States because he is an honest man and a true representative of the common people. The senior senator of Wisconsin should be elected by the republican party or by a new "third party."

This article is being sent to nine different newspapers. The writer is one of the common people and he wishes to find out if the papers to which this article is sent will publish it. This article is sent to the Chicago Tribune, Wisconsin News, Milwaukee Journal, Milwaukee Sentinel, Capital Times, Milwaukee Leader, Madison State Journal, Fort Atkinson Union and Lake Mills Leader.

The writer of this article has no political axe to grind, but he does want to see honest men in the official positions of our government.

The writer is a veteran of the World war and also a member of organized labor and at present is a United States Veterans' bureau law student in the offices of Fawcett & Dutcher, Cowker Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis.; residence 203 12th st.—Herman W. Wolff.

WE ALSO GET SOME BRICKS.

[To The Editor]—You receive so many letters praising your paper, don't you realize that the writers are your biggest enemies. They have a tendency to make you conceited.

The fault I find with your paper—you are not the only one, is: Why don't you finish an article or subject on the page you begin with? It makes it particularly unpleasant if two members of the family wish to read at the same time. After reading part, it says: Continued on page 4, the very sheet the other reader uses. Your only object you have in view I think is, you want the reader to stumble over 10 or 15 acres of foolish advertising—nuff said.—Henry A. Ochsner, Plain, Wis.

Poems That Live

THE TWO FRIENDS

I have two friends—two glorious friends—two better could not be,
And every night when midnight tolls they meet
to laugh with me.

The first was shot by Carlist thieves—ten years ago in Spain,
The second drowned near Alecante—while I alive remain.

I love to see their dim white forms come floating through the night,
And grieve to see them fade away in early morning light.

The first with gnomes in the Under Land is leading a lordly life,
The second has married a mermaiden, a beautiful water-wife.

And since I have friends in the Earth and Sea
—with a few, I trust, on high,
'Tis a matter of small account to me—the way that I may die.

For whether I sink in the foaming flood, or swing in the triple tree,
Or die in my bed, as a Christian should, is all the same to me.

—Charles G. Leland.

Cashman and U.

Green Bay Press-Gazette Discusses British Propaganda Charge of Regent.

(From Green Bay Press-Gazette)

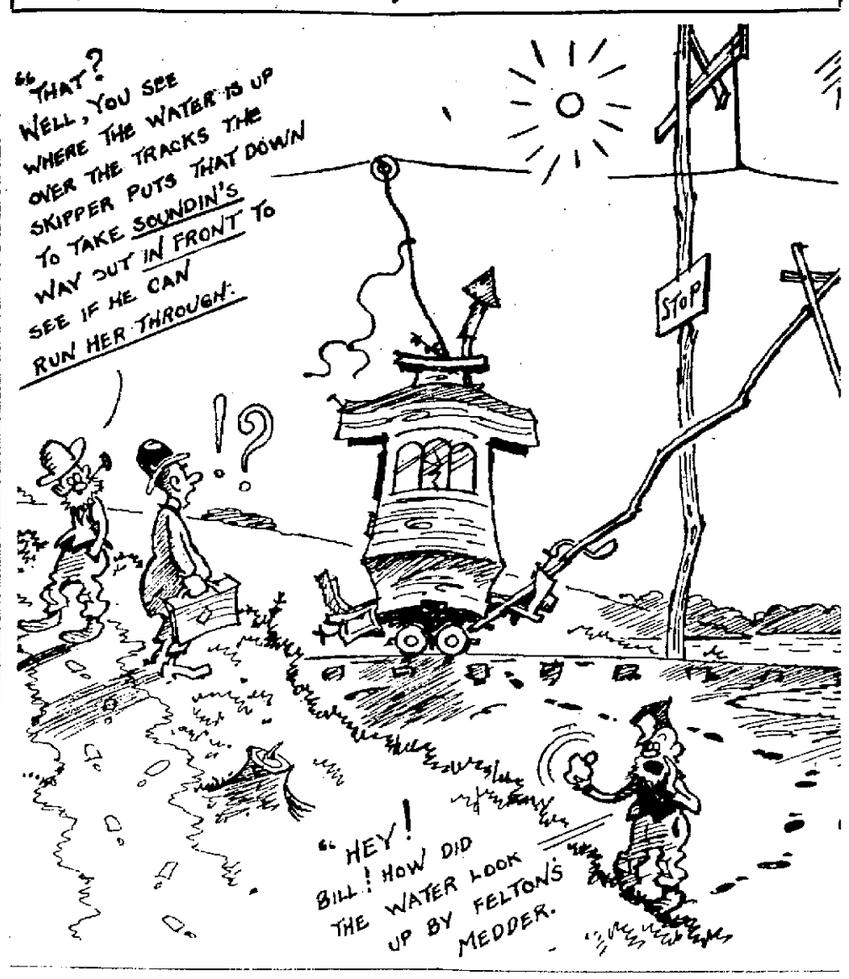

We begin to see why it was necessary for the state administration to enlarge the university board of regents. It was not so much to give the farmer and labor representation on the board, rather it was to de-Anglicize the university. Senator Cashman, who holds the university to be a "rich man's school" and whose love of the British is like that of the prohibitionist for beer and light wines, was a happy selection for the board to carry out this pleasant educational task. Mr. Cashman is going to purge the university of everything that relates directly or indirectly, nearly or remotely, to the hated mother country. He had thought that the revolution and the war of 1812 had definitely severed all ties between England and America, but it has been brought to his attention that propaganda has been going on all the while to bring us back into the empire and to destroy our freedom of thought and institutions.

There is only one international menace in Mr. Cashman's eyes that the United States should protect itself against, and that is Great Britain. It owns most of the universities of this country, or is worming its way into their proprietorship, just as the late Lord Northcliff "owned" most of the American newspapers. He is, therefore, going to drive out of the University of Wisconsin all professors who believe in remaining on speaking terms with England, who advocate American membership in the "British" League of Nations and who aspire to teach English history.

This mandate he got from the legislature—the legislature whose conception of Americanism is embodied in Eugene V. Debs and who wanted to abolish the National Guard. Mr. Cashman is not at all worried about the German professors in the university or the French instructors, or those of other nationalities. We take it they are to remain and continue their work unhampered. There has never been known to be partial presentation of history or any other subject by alien minds except the British. We are going to have our university run by a legislature and a board of regents which hate Great Britain and which preach that hatred and seek to instill it in the young. That is the fair way, the American way.

When Mr. Cashman has converted the university into an anti-British institution Wisconsin at least will be relatively safe and we shall be on the highroad to intellectual poise and grandeur. Let us hasten the day of this new freedom, under which the university will automatically become the poor man's paradise. It will be a renaissance, indeed.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All the Trains

The State Press

Free speech has its vices as well as its virtues. The abuse of free speech is one of the perils of a republic where political and legal equality prevail. The responsibility of those who insist upon free speech is great. It varies according to the standing, reputation and influence of the speaker. The average soap-box orator simply blows off steam. What he says has little weight. But the man of culture, education and influence, who claims the right to arouse prejudice if not anger in the minds of the thinking public, is a positive menace.—Marshfield News.

The man who voices opinions YOU don't like is a menace, eh?

The supreme court of Wisconsin in its decision on the search and seizure portion of the Severson law, seems to hold that so long as a man has a bottle of whiskey in his trousers pocket, and keeps it there, the police have no right to search him and nab that liquor. No doubt the finding of the eminent jurists is based on good law and the constitutional rights of American citizens. So long as the possessor of a bottle of whiskey keeps it in his pocket, the booze is harmless.—Wausau Record-Herald.

Theodore Roosevelt has been unanimously chosen a delegate to the National Republican convention from his district in the state of New York. That appears to be a wise selection.—Waukesha Freeman.

But why has young Roosevelt been ditched as a candidate for governor of New York.

A flash of lightning struck the earth near the foot of a tree in Madison county, Illinois, in 1807, setting it afire. The monks of La Trappe dug below the fire and found a vein of coal, the first in the Northwest Territory.

The old, open cistern,
The rain water cistern,
The uncovered cistern
Where "skeeters" breed well.

Often the "he man" should be addressed in the third person, singular, neuter gender.

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

THE LITTLE HOUSE

A little house with laughter in it,
A singing kettle and a fire,
A tree where nests the summer linnet,
What more can any man desire?

A sheltering roof with peace below it,
A door which every friend may pass,
A shelf of books for sage and poet,
What more can any man amass?

A garden with the roses gleaming,
A few glad toys upon the floor,
A big arm chair for happy dreaming,
The richest man can have no more.

A child upon your knee, and maybe
On the rug a dog or cat,
Then add to this a dimpled baby,
And who has greater wealth than that?

(Copyright, 1924, by Edgar A. Guest.)

A Word on Health

There is an uncanny association between the infant mortality rate and the germ count in the milk supply.

Let thy sleeping porch pay thy doctor; thy garden, thy grocer.

Sweeping dirt behind the door is a poor idea of good housekeeping.

For here's an ill that has no cure—let's seek some sound prevention.

We're partial to pleasure
But seldom we give
Some thought to the question
Of how we should live.

When a fellow developes a forty-six waist the belt line's the danger line.

It's all right to feel "red-blooded," but purity is more important than color.

And I, the brilliant master of the house,
Intend to be a very gaudy spouse—
I'll wear an orange dressing gown, I guess.

For I am sick of melancholy hues;
From daily windows looking over town,
I'm always seeing dun, buff, gray, black, brown;
So you must give me scarlets, royal blues.

Or, if you can't achieve this colorful whirl,
Tell me, and I'll go marry another girl.

Dear Penrod:

Thata boy! The old sense of [illegible] nally acclimated itself to the Pr[illegible] osition.

But now we've already decided [illegible] tion to other improvements such as [illegible] with dark blue ink on pink paper—we've [illegible] to label everything "serious,"—"satire," [illegible] lesque"—"irony"—"ultra - serious," [illegible] and also segregate copy into [illegible] as "red-light," "blue light," and so forth. [illegible] d' y' think o' that?

Think what we will, Proletarian [illegible] spend another 15 cents for your sheet. Anyway, it's courtesy for you to send us [illegible] copies.

Dear Penrod:

A Chicago Daily Nooze headline [illegible] with the otherwise blase and unruffled [illegible] of life here at our rooming house. It was "Dinner, Drink, Duel and Death."

Wouldn't it be a lovely alliteration [illegible] "Damnation" some place?

—Tosca of Park [illegible]

We see that the Chicago Tribune has [illegible] that after all there's to be a [illegible] Senator La Follette at the head [illegible] now that they've decided, we suppose [illegible] nothing to do, regardless of what [illegible] may have to say about the matter.

"WHEN GASTON MEANS THREW SOME SHELL" is the apt titie of a piece [illegible] front page yesterday.

How about "WHEN GASTON MEANS THREW A STINK-BOMB."

Dear Penrod:

If your roommate seem[illegible] of your best beloved,

AS HE SEEMS.

And the startlingly wretched [illegible] was that she didn't seem to m[illegible]

AS SHE DOESN'T.

And you were doing your share, [illegible] on and hold on.

AS I AM.

And you found out that your [illegible] made a breakfast date for S[illegible] morning, with said sweetie,

AS HE HAD.

And you knew that if anything [illegible] would queer the boy with her [illegible] breaking a date.

AS IT WOULD.

Wouldn't you get up quietly about [illegible] Sunday and turn roommate's Big Ben over [illegible] NO ALARM.

AS I DID.

And sneak gleefully back to bed [illegible] that he would never wake before [illegible] ed to sleep.

AS HE EVENTUALLY DID!

There's no use in talking,
The fellow that's walking
Is keeping his body in trim:
So when you're deciding
Twixt walking and riding
Just walk off your fat and get slim.
